ASK WRIT TO BLOCK ARREST

Oil Firm Seeks Restraining Order Against City of Huntington Beach

CHURCH BODY LOSES ROYALTIES, IS CLAIM

Petrol Development Would Make 4 Blocks Worth $500,000, View

Giving rise to the belief that the recent election at Huntington Beach, when a movement to enlarge the district in which oil wells might be drilled was defeated, the Pacific Palisades Oil company today entered suit against the city of Huntington Beach and City Marshal Jack Tinsley, to restrain them from arresting and prosecuting should oil wells be drilled by them on property of the Huntington Beach Methodist association.

According to the complaint, the property, which consists of four city blocks, bounded by Eleventh and Thirteenth streets on two sides, and Orange and Athalia on the others, is worth only $100,000 as residence property, whereas, if it could be used in the production of oil, it would be worth $500,000.

The suit claimed that a previous regulation, wrought by the board of trustees, was illegal, in that it did not contain the signature of the president of the board. The plea took no cognizance of the recent election, however, when a movement to increase the extent of the bounds, was defeated.

The prayer set forth that the Methodist association, which had leased the property, with the understanding that four wells would be drilled thereon, was losing at least $1,500 a day royalty, because of the regulation.

Huntington Beach officials today made light of the possibility of the court upholding the prayer, however. They pointed out that however invalid the restrictive measure, adopted by the board two years ago, might have been, the recent election superseded that measure.

When you meet them for the first time, in a matter in which you are yourself interested, it is a terrible shock.

The real misfortune is that we ever get hardened to it. For it is shocking, whether we are too callous to feel it or not.

If public discussion cannot be intellectually honest, then we shall have to devise some other method than government by discussion.

So far, no other method has been invented, except government by force. He who uses arguments to darken rather than to illuminate counsel, is using a form of force himself—and not so efficient a force as the older and coarser sorts.

The truth is mighty and will prevail, if it is truth we deal in. But lies, as weapons, can be defeated by the other weapons, of bombs from below and bribes from above. Either the truth must make us free, or we shall not be free.

So let us who are veterans take no pride in the cynicism which hardens us to the political buncombe. The innocent, who is shocked at it, is nearer right than we.

Wilson "Glad" Party Chief Thinks He Had Part In Victory

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 10.—Woodrow Wilson is "glad" that his fellow Democrats think he was in some way connected with the victories of Tuesday," he told Thomas B. Love, Democratic national committeeman, in a telegram received by the latter here today.

Love had wired the former president congratulations on the victory "for the things you stood for."

Wilson's reply read:

"Thank you warmly for your message. I am glad that you think I was in some way connected with the victories of Tuesday. Greetings to all loyal Democrats."

WRIGHT ACT PASSAGE SEEN

PARTY LINES BROKEN IN ELECTION

Upsets In Three States Shows Voters Scratching Tickets

(United Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Danger signals showed for both political parties in Tuesday's election—signals that were not lost on party leaders who, in appraising the results of the voting, have been impressed with the breaking away of the people from party beliefs and the "straight ticket."

A greater independence of party lines was shown this year than for many elections. Examples of this were the Massachusetts, Ohio and Nebraska results.

Governor Cox carried Massachusetts by a good majority; his Republican running mate, Senator Lodge, barely squeezed through. A Democratic governor was elected in Ohio, yet Senator Pomerene, Democrat, was overwhelmingly defeated. In Nebraska the same thing occurred, the voters scratching the name of Senator Hitchcock while voting for C. W. Bryan, Democrat, for governor.

New Party Problems

This independence is but one of the problems put up to party leaders which promise to make the coming two years full of political "jazz."

The most immediate of these problems is that of getting the Harding administration's legislative program fairly well completed before the new congress comes in. Recognizing the certainty that Republican proposals will have hard sledding after next March, President Harding has called Congress into special session for November 20. He wants to get the appropriation bills and other necessary legislation out of the way before March 4 and then prevent congress being in session very much during the remainder of his term. This would keep hostile Democrats, newly elected, from making trouble.

Democrats "Pepping Up"

Other election results likely to leave their impression on the next two years include:

Tremendous "pepping up" of Democrats for 1924 and the beginning of booms for Democratic political candidates, chiefly Al Smith, elected governor of New York.

A boom of progressive stock, because the progressives will be able to control both house and senate in the next congress.

The increased political strength of the farm bloc in both houses instead of killing off the bloc, as the administration hoped.

Many places for new leaders in both Republican and Democratic parties.

Must Name New Leaders

The Republicans must choose a new house leader and the Democrats a new one in the senate. There is gossip that Senator Lodge may retire as Republican senate leader, but this is only gossip and it is unlikely that he will either resign voluntarily or be forced out at present.

Revival of the Newberry case.

New impetus to the soldier bonus demand.

There will, therefore, be no "adjournment, with the Republicans trying hard to come back in 1924 and the Democrats trying to consolidate and extend their gains.

HARDING CALLS FOR AID FOR RED CROSS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—President Harding today issued a proclamation calling upon the American people to support the annual Red Cross membership roll call beginning tomorrow and continuing until Thanksgiving day.

He also proclaimed November 12 as Red Cross Sunday, inviting the people "to unite with their spiritual leaders in such observance of it as may promote a renewed consecration to the gospel of service based upon divine injunction and sanction by all good conscience."

Ford to Train Chinese Boys for Opening Of Factory In Orient

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Henry Ford is planning for extensive manufacturing operations in the Orient, according to reports received by the commerce department today.

Joseph Ballie, personal representative of Ford in China, has reported that the manufacturer has offered to provide technical training for one hundred Chinese boys, a dispatch from Shanghai to the commerce department stated.

Ford has specified that all these Chinese boys who receive this training must have been born upon American soil.

This decision to train the Chinese gave rise to reports in Shanghai that Ford is planning the establishment of a manufacturing plant in the Orient, the cable stated.

Terror Spreads Through Irish City as Insurgent Forces Sweep Streets With Lead.

DUBLIN, Nov. 10.—Two civilians were killed as Irish insurgents spread guerrilla warfare through Dublin today.

Volley after volley was fired by the rebels into Porto Bello and Wellington barracks at midnight. Streets echoed all night long with the sound of firing. Citizens barricaded their stores and homes, bringing back scenes of the 1916 rebellion.

Free State troops whose leaders a few days ago declared the Republicans were "whipped" retaliated against the raiders by dismantling the Suffolk street insurgent headquarters after a six-hour fight.

BONUS BACKERS GAIN SUPPORT IN CONGRESS

BY LAURENCE BENEDICT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The new congress will override any presidential veto of the soldiers' bonus bill, thus assuring its enactment, it was revealed today by a comprehensive tabulation by the United Press of adjusted compensation strength in the senate elected Tuesday.

A careful poll of the senate as it will be constituted after next March 4, based on votes of the old senators in the present congress and on pledges made by the new members during the campaign, shows that sixty-seven senators are in favor of adjusted compensation, twenty-seven are against, it and the position of two is unknown.

A total of sixty-seven for the bonus is three more than two-thirds of the senate—the number required to override a veto.

In the house, which overrode President Harding's veto of the measure last September shortly before the senate blocked the measure by sustaining the executive's objection, sentiment is overwhelming in favor of the bill.

The Democrats gained seventy-five in the lower branch and the majority of these are known to be for the bonus.

The soldier bonus is certain to be re-introduced shortly after the convening of the new congress, which probably will be called in a special session shortly after March 4, 1923.

The measure also will be introduced again in the present congress, but it is extremely doubtful if it can be enacted during the few remaining months of the current session.

The American Legion, greatly encouraged by the increased majorities for the measure, in both houses and the favorable votes for the state bonus in Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Montana and probably Oklahoma, is preparing to launch a new drive for the federal bill.

FIND ERROR IN OAKLAND BALLOTS

OAKLAND, Calif., Nov. 10.—An error of 23,000 votes in the count on the Wright bill in Alameda county which may mean the carrying of that measure in the state was discovered by county Clerk George E. Gross today in a re-check of preliminary figures.

The count in Alameda county as it stands now is 42,840 in favor of the measure and 45,057 against it. The previously announced figures gave the bill about 32,000 votes and approximately 58,000 against it.

Measure Gains 23,000 Votes, Over-Coming Lead of Opposition

Reported discovery of an error in the Alameda county count of ballots cast on the Wright bill in Tuesday's election today threw the entire outcome of the vote on the prohibition enforcement question in California in doubt.

County Clerk George E. Cross of Alameda county announced that a recheck had shown an error of approximately 23,000 in the first count, against the bill.

Correction of this error would overcome the approximately 20,000 margin against the measure on the state count reported thus far and might well insure its passage.

Re-checks were started at other points as a result. It was believed that the error in Alameda county would make it impossible to learn the real fate of the measure until an official canvass of the state is completed.

HINT ELECTION LAWS BROKEN IN STATE

(United Press Leased Wire)

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 10.—Forty-eight organizations are liable to prosecution for violation of a state law requiring that a statement of campaign expenses be filed with the secretary of state five days before election and again within twenty days after election.

According to the secretary of state's office, only twelve statements of expenses were filed before the election. Sixty should have been filed by parties for and against each measure on the ballot.

A fine of $1,000 is provided for each organization found guilty of violating the law. It is necessary, however, that a complaint be sworn out against the offender.

Following are the organizations that complied with the law by filing before election:

Lawyers, chiropractors, single tax proponents, veterans, League to protect initiative, osteopaths, opponents of chiropractic, osteopathic and anti-vivisection measures and proponents of water and power act.

American Ships Meet Opposition Of Ship Board Chairman in Plan Escape Decision.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The shipping board has decided to prohibit any other American ships from changing their registry in order to avoid the Daughertry liquor ruling, Chairman Lasker announced here today.

In making the announcement, Lasker explained that the two ships, the Resolute and the Reliance of the American Line, which hereafter fly the flag of Panama because of the liquor ruling, had stipulations in their contracts for change of registry. No other American ships have such provisions, Lasker said, and none will be permitted to desert the American flag because of the prohibition question.

HEIRSS TO 38 MILLIONS TO WEB ARTIST

(United Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Dellora Angell, 19, niece and heiress to the $38,000,000 estate of "Bet 'Em a Million" Gates, will marry Lester Norris, poor artist and son of the village undertaker of St. Charles, Ill., in the spring.

The engagement was formally announced before a gathering of Miss Angell's friends.

Norris, who is 21, is a cartoonist for the Hamiltonian, published by the Hamilton club of Chicago. He is a graduate of the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts.

School Romance

Miss Angell is the daughter of a deceased sister of Mrs. John W. Gates, from whom she received the $38,000,000 fortune.

"There's nothing strange about it," Miss Angell said today. "We love each other. The romance started years ago when Lester was in the sixth grade and I was in the fourth grade."

Miss Angell recently returned from Europe, where it was reported she received scores of proposals of marriage from "royalty."

The wealthy American girl, however, has simple tastes.

Wants Quiet Wedding

"I don't want a fancy wedding," she said. "Les and I will just slip off and be married, with the members of my family and his, and a few of our best friends present. No church wedding for me."

"After we are married we will live at our place on the St. Charles river until we can build a bungalow."

Norris is quiet and says he prefers "to let Dellora do the talking."

Miss Angell, with her parents, will leave for Pasadena, Calif., in a few days to spend the winter.

Nationalist Leaders Refuse to Recognize World War Penalties

ATHENS, Nov. 10.—British and French troops occupied the customs house at Constantinople today, according to reports reaching here this afternoon. In Athens this move was interpreted as the initial step in declaration by the allies of martial law. Great excitement was created here over the report. Allied representatives accepted it with some reserve as dispatches to Athens often proved greatly exaggerated.

ATHENS, Nov. 10.—Mustapha Kemal today sent a new note to the allies insisting that they evacuate Constantinople immediately, according to dispatches received here. Italian subjects living in Constantinople already have started embarking.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Marshal Foch, allied commander in chief during the war, today conferred with Premier Poincare regarding military measures to be taken in view of the Near East crisis.

By LLOYD ALLEN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Nov. 10.—London was cut off from communication with Constantinople today.

Rumors of serious trouble in the Near East ran unchecked, with the foreign office, lacking official advice, powerless to deny them.

The cabinet was called together at 10 o'clock to consider the situation.

What the Turks are driving at in their arrogant assumption of authority over the Allies at the Straits has at last been made clear.

The Angora government demands nullification of all "capitulations" arising from defeat of Turkish arms in the great war. It considers that victory over Greece has wiped out all losses sustained by the Sultan's government.

"We are an autonomous nation," Ferid Bey, Nationalist representative at Paris, declared in a bellicose statement. "We do not recognize any penalties incurred by the Sultan's government."

When the British cabinet met, it was stated that an official dispatch from General Harington had come through, despite the cutting of the cables by the Turks. The British commander in the Near East advised the cabinet that the situation is most serious.

British air experts were called in to answer questions about a possible military move against the Turks. Airplanes are expected to play a big part if war breaks out.

Violate Armistice

Bonar Law, who presided, declared the Turks sought nullification of the treaties of Mudros and of Sevres. They have agreed to abide by the armistice treaty of Mudania, at the same time exceeding its conditions and seeking to drive the Allies from the vicinity of the Straits.

"We shall ignore capitulations entirely. For us they do not exist. We are free. This is our country (referring to Turkey in Europe) and we shall administer it as we like."

TWO FATALLY HURT IN AIRPLANE FALL

BEAUMONT, Tex., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Beaumont, wife of the president of the South Texas Fair, and R. E. Barry, Houston stunt aviator, were probably fatally injured today when an airplane in which they had just taken off from the local flying field fell flatly.

The two victims were extricated by persons attracted to the scene. Both were unconscious.

INFERNO RAGES IN CANADA, IS CLAIM

SEATTLE, Nov. 10.—There's hell on earth up in the Canadian wilds, reports a Canadian government agent who has returned from Fort Norman, on the Mackenzie river, in far northern Canada. He went there to investigate the new oil discoveries reported in the past months and found in many places enormous quantities of "burning coal and shale." The air is full of the smell of sulphur and burning coal. At night along the river great cliffs of sizzling molten clay may be seen.

This sounds very Dantesque, but its probability cannot be denied. It is well known that the fantastic and highly-colored "bad lands" formations of the state of South Dakota owe their origin and conditions to just such a happening. In fact, some of the beds of coal in that region are still burning. Similar phenomena are known in other parts of the world.

Some may marvel that coal and oil are found so far north, even within the Arctic circle, since coal especially is known to be derived from plant life which flourished in a tropical or mild climate. The coal beds of the Mackenzie River region however, are several million years old, although comparatively recent as the geological age of the earth is now generally accepted.

At the time they were formed, and also much more recently, the climatic conditions of the earth were very different from now. It is not only conceivable but certain that tropical conditions in the relatively recent geologic past have existed at both the north and south polar regions.

As to how the fire started one can only surmise. It may have been from lightning, or most likely from spontaneous combustion such as takes place in the coal storage bins quite frequently. This little local "hell on earth" has been burning for countless thousands of years and it will continue until burned out or until the air can no longer reach the burning material to supply the necessary oxygen for combustion.

HEIR WAITS TABLES TO STUDY HUMANITY

MANHATTAN, Kas., Nov. 10.—If you want to understand folks, get a job as a waiter.

That is the advice of J. F. T. Mostert, son of a multimillionaire South African planter and manufacturer, who is a student of agriculture at Kansas State Agricultural College. Last summer he decided to get the point of view of the workmen, so he got a job as waiter at the college mess hall.

"Americans have a queer notion about class distinction," Mostert said after serving as a waiter. "While they are eating at your table they will make a pretense at considering you their equal and engage you in conversation, but when they meet you outside they pretend not to recognize you."

When Mostert finishes his work for a degree in agriculture in February, he will return to South Africa to manage a 300-acre farm, which his father has given him.

Mostert's motive in taking a job as waiter was better to learn how to direct men by having served as a workman himself. Year before last he worked as a farm hand.

POTENT 'PAINT' IS PICKED FROM PIER; PEER PECUNIARLY

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—"Nose paint," 45 thousands dollars' worth of it masquerading as the variety that is applied with a brush, caused quite a commotion at Pier 37, North river, this afternoon. Twenty-five police detectives, led by Inspector Donohue, boarded the coastwise Clyde steamer Apache and seized 45 barrels of bottled whiskey enough paint to build up the high lights on many a colorless nose.

The barrels were marked "J. R. Leroy Paint company, New York city."

According to the police, there is no such company in New York. Where headquarters got its tip that something was amiss and where the stuff was put aboard the Apache was not disclosed.

The Apache plies between Jacksonville and New York, touching at one or two other coast cities on the way up. She had been in but a short time when the raiders appeared.

FARMER FOUND MURDERED IN HIS BERTH

STOCKTON, Nov. 10.—Peter Ratto, a farmer residing on Roberts island nine miles west of Stockton, was found murdered yesterday afternoon at his home. The farmer was probably shot while lying in bed. Vengeance was the motive for the deed, according to Coroner Oscar C. Pope and Sheriff William H. Reicks. Two charges of buckshot had been fired into his body. The room showed evidence of a struggle and the body had been dragged about the room.

The body was found by a brother of the deceased shortly after the murder had been committed.

Ratto and his wife quarreled about a month ago and separated. A few days later she returned, leaving again about a week ago.

Yesterday morning the brother visited the deceased. During their conversation the victim of the tragedy stated he planned going hunting this morning with a party of friends.

The contents of the gun blew the head partly from the body. The deceased was about 40 years of age.

Deputy District Attorney Morgan A. Sanborn, who returned this afternoon following an investigation on the scene of the crime, is of the opinion that two or three men who visited the Ratto place last Monday night did the fatal shooting.

He believes the murder was not premeditated, but was merely the result of a quarrel which arose while the men were visiting Ratto's place. He does not believe that Mrs. Ratto, who left her husband a week ago following a series of quarrels, had anything to do with the shooting.

The authorities found that Monday noon Ratto visited his brother, on a neighboring farm, and borrowed a shotgun and five shells. He said he was going duck hunting with a party of friends the following day.

About 8 o'clock the same evening, a dredgerman a short distance from the Ratto house, heard two shots fired and then heard two or more men in loud conversation.

WINDJAMMER COMES BACK ON COAST AS TRADE BOOM RESULT

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 11.—The windjammer is coming back.

It is being used now in coastwise and off-coast trade owing to the heavy demand for lumber carriers. Several windjammers recently left here with lumber for Australia.

Practically extinct on the seas for some years, except in out-of-the-way corners of the ocean, the war brought the old four-masted, picturesque in the days of glory of the American merchant marine fifty years ago, back into their own. Windjammers practically set aside to rot were again put into commission.

When the after-the-war shipping slump came, windjammers again practically disappeared. A few of them operated out of San Francisco, but that was about all. Now, however, the demand for lumber carriers is so strong that many of them are getting into action again.

GIANT GUSHER BROUGHT IN AT SPRINGS

Declared to be flowing the largest volume of oil of any well in the state, a second well owned by the Wilshire Oil company today was under control on the firm's five-acre lease of what is known as "Dutch Charley's" place at Santa Fe Springs, according to word received here.

The well came in as a spouter shortly after midnight last night. The force of the gas wrecked the derrick, it was stated. The gas became ignited and the rig of an adjoining well was entirely destroyed.

WIVES OF REALTORS ON CONCLAVE BOARD

Joseph P. Smith, chairman of the entertainment committee for the convention of the California Real Estate association, to be held here next month, announced at a luncheon of the Santa Ana Realty board at St. Ann's Inn today that the wives of the members of the board had been appointed to the committee, and that upon the women would devolve the special duty of arranging entertainment. Mrs. Frank Cope is chairman and Mrs. Carl Mock vice-chairman.

According to a report made by J. C. Wallace, secretary, realtors in various parts of the state continue to make reservations for the convention, which is to be held December 7, 8 and 9.

The secretary was directed to have typewritten letters mailed to the president of each of the realty boards in the state asking them to be present at the annual session.

REPORT OF EJECTION SUIT IS CORRECTED

Correcting erroneous published reports that he and his wife, Mildred, were being ejected from their home for non-payment of rent, Melvin Moore this afternoon explained that it was he and his wife who were bringing suit against Clarence Whitehead for the alleged offense, and that it was not Whitehead who brought the action. Moore said the house in which Whitehead is alleged to be living without paying rent is at 1126 West Fourth street.

PALM PROTECTION IN CANYONS IS ASSURED

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 10.—The palms of Palm Springs, Andreas and Murray canyons will be protected from vandalism, according to a telegram received by the Riverside Chamber of Commerce from Congressman Phil D. Swing, who states that the U. S. Indian service has gone on record as promising necessary policing.

Congressman Swing's telegram intimates his belief that the refusal of the Aguar Calientes band of Indians to sell 1600 acres of their holdings for a national monument is simply the first round of "horse trade."

Last Saturday the tribe flatly voted against parting with any of their holdings. Congress had, in passing the bill to establish a national monument, provided that the Indians themselves accept or reject the proposal.

MOVIE INSPIRED MAN HUGS OLD WOMAN AND VISITS DURANCE VILE

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—If it had not been for reel number 2, Solomon Levy would be as free as the October air.

He was sitting in the Savoy theater, a motion pictures house. Next to him was a gray-haired woman, "Not so bad," he thought when reel number one ended.

When reel number two started, the woman says, he put his arm around her.

"Not so good," he thought when he felt himself yanked into the aisle by the gray-haired woman, Mrs. Sylvan Friedlander, who marched him to the rear of the theater and delivered him deftly to a blue coat.

"I made a mistake, your honor," pleaded Solomon.

"I guess you did. Thirty days," said Magistrate McAndrews.

TOO MUCH KISSING AND LEG SHOW ARE HIT BY PROFESSOR

BERKELEY, Nov. 10.—Scoring promiscuous kissing as not only unsanitary but immoral, Dr. Robert O. Moody, professor of anatomy at the University of California, declares that "the girl who lends her lips too freely in her flirtatious conquests is more than likely to find herself in serious trouble before she has gone far on her careless osculatory way."

Dr. Moody also states that the modern young people indulge in too many "spooning" parties and that "kissing and leg shows" are two of the big contributing factors toward modern delinquency and the lowering of the morals of the American people.

"Because modern conventions demand that woman must cover her body with clothes, the sight of a bare, shapely leg causes great consternation among the opposite sex," says Dr. Moody, in declaring that the aboriginal tribes who scorned outer garments were more "moral" than the present-day "civilized" persons.

Dr. Moody made a plea for a single standard of morality, saying, "A man must play the game of life so that when he meets the woman who is to be his wife and the mother of his children he can look back on the years of youth and young manhood and feel that he has played the game of life square."

He said:

"It will surprise and may even shock many good people to learn the hard fact that the morality of a number of the almost naked tribes of the Philippines is far above that of any civilized people in the world; and that, curious as it may seem, some of the most fully clad wild tribes fall furthest below the ordinary standard of civilized people."

219,000 MIS-SIZED MILK BOTTLES BROKEN

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—A total of 219,000 undersized and oversized milk bottles have been destroyed in Los Angeles in the last year by C. M. Fuller, county sealer, who made the statement after he and fifteen assistants had completed the breaking of the last collection of 19,000.

Of the total of 219,000, about 200,000 were undersized and 19,000 oversized.

Los Angeles dairymen co-operate with officials of the county and city departments of weights and measures to protect themselves against the substitution of oversized bottles, as well as to protect their customers against undersized containers.

THE HUNTER AND HIS DOG

A hunter's dog by skill and care had helped his master trap a bear; But when it came the time to eat The hunter wouldn't share the meat.

"Stung!" said the dog; then, if you please, He loosed a nest of angry bees. "Stung!" cried the hunter, then he fled! The dog remained right there— and fed!

BEE MEN PLACE CULTURE FUND AT DISPOSAL

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 10.—Setting aside $1,000 to be used as a revolving fund to aid honey producers working on small capital in bad years or during the time between selling seasons, the Riverside County Bee Keepers club Saturday morning started a movement which it is believed will be very effective, both in aiding honey producers and in keeping the price of honey to a standard.

When the market is poor or the yield light with high production costs the small producer will be enabled by this fund to draw small amounts to tide him over. As a result of this it will not be necessary for him to sell his honey at a price considerably below cost, at a loss of profit to himself, and tending to force lower prices on the part of the larger producers.

A special committee of five, with alternates, was appointed to take care of such cases and also to aid in maintaining a high quality output, properly packed, from the Riverside district. The committee consists of: F. W. Redfield, F. A. Alexander, E. C. Kennedy, C. A. Worth, G. Lohrli, Reese Powell and Lester Bamberger. To work with this committee in seeing that cleanliness and a high standard of quality are maintained, the following men were named: A. K. Whidden, San Jacinto; Roy Fernald, Temecula; J. J. Frost, Banning; T. O. Andrews, Corona.

Through an agreement made with the Superior Honey company members of the club will be furnished with foundation in exchange for beeswax turned in, at the rate of 11 cents per pound.

Will Reeves, J. A. Kenzie, Fred Redfield, Reese Powell and Lester Bamberger were appointed as a committee to consult with managements of the various fairs in the state in an effort to secure three prizes in each class of production instead of two as are now offered. It is believed that if an additional prize were offered in each class more and better entries would be displayed.

WORLD'S BIGGEST ZOO TO PROVIDE NATURAL SETTING FOR ANIMALS

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Construction of a 300 acre zoological garden—the largest in the world—was under way here today.

Not satisfied with having birds and beasts from every known land in the world represented in its exhibit, the Chicago Zoological society has planned to bring with the animals their natural surroundings.

Plans for the vast park were drawn by Emmet J. Flavin, who worked in collaboration with the Hagenbeck brothers, owners of the famous Tierpark zoo at Stellingen, Germany. The 300 acre tract of land was given to the society by Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick.

With sweeping hills and artificial rock cliffs for their haunts, and lakes, mountains, valleys, and rivers especially prepared for the scenic effect, the animals will have ample room to move about and exhibit their natural habits.

"The gardens will give the animals all the freedom of large open spaces similar to their native haunts, but around each group a barrier, invisible at first, will guard the onlookers," Flavin explained.

Fountains, pergolas, a bandstand and parking space for automobiles, with winding driveways throughout the gardens will make the park accessible to large crowds.

'OR'BLE' DETAILS OF 'ACCENT' OF CARS AT 'ANHIME' TOLD HERE

'Dear Sheriff, "I would like to inform you about an accent yesterday near Anhime."

With this prologue, B. J. Sleeper proceeded to describe a triangular mixup in which his car, a machine owned by J. A. de Forest, and a Motor Transit stage figured yesterday. According to the sheriff's report, which was filed simultaneously with Sleeper's at the sheriff's office, the accident occurred on the boundary line of Orange and Los Angeles counties.

Sleeper was on his way to "San Bunadiro," his letter indicated, when the "accent" occurred, de Forest was attempting to pass the stage, when his car and Sleeper's came together, practically "demolishing" Sleeper's car.

Sleeper's child "beary" escaped the death, he said.

POLY STUDENTS SEE PICTURE OF PEACE

The horrors and the waste of war were sharply contrasted with the benefits of peace in a motion picture, "The Price of Peace," which was shown as an Armistice day feature in the high school auditorium this morning when the high school students held their weekly assembly.

The students viewed the picture with the closest attention. Elmer Worthing, of the faculty, spoke on debating and also urged attendance at the motion pictures that the student body is screening in an endeavor to raise funds with which to pay for a projection machine.

Miss Isabel Anderson, also of the faculty, gave a talk in which she "boosted" the junior college "vaudeville show" to be given at the high school auditorium to night and urged a large attendance at tomorrow's football game between Santa Ana and Pasadena high schools.

At the same time that this assembly was in progress the men of the junior college, under William Adamson's leadership, assembled to elect officers for their recently formed Y. M. C. A. club, and the college women held a separate assembly under the direction of Mrs. Robert Northcross, their dean, and heard talks pertaining to women's athletics.

AGED PLANT WIZARD PERFORMS MIRACLES IN SPITE OF YEARS

KOZLOFF, Tamboff Government, Russia, Nov. 10.—Luther Burbank's Russian rival, Ivan A. Mithourin, a septuagenarian who works daily in his experimental garden near here despite his advanced years, is still turning out hybrid wonders in fruits, melons, nuts and vegetables.

Professor Mithourin is well known in American horticultural societies, and many orchards in the United States are planted with the Mithourin cherry. His garden now is full of trees, bushes and plants in various stages of experimental development. One of his latest achievements is a new melon, a cross between a water melon and a cantaloupe, which is oval in form and with a dark green striped rind, much harder than either of its parents.

The experimental field is full of trees bearing plums as large as duck eggs, black currants the size of grapes, and an extraordinary almond said to have been produced by crossing bitter almonds with some wild nut.

Some of the most extraordinary trees bear three kinds of fruit—apples crossed with pears, apples crossed with crab apples, and apples crossed with both crab apples and pears, each species of fruit growing from one grafted branch properly pollinized.

Mithourin is very modest. When asked whether he wanted any assistance from the government, he answered: "Nothing but the permission to keep a rifle to guard my garden."

Everybody Worked But Father

"Father's stomach trouble seemed to be getting worse all the time and finally he had to quit work altogether. Two brothers and myself gave up school and went to work to support the family. Father had lost sixty pounds in weight and was yellow as saffron and no medicine helped him. Telling a friend about it six months ago, she advised taking Mav's Wonderful Remedy. I got a bottle and it helped father at once. He was able to go back to work a month later, has regained his weight and strength and eats like a wood chopper. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including indigestion. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale at all druggists.—adv.

Charts Show Great Traffic In County

Eleven vehicles passed the intersection of Huntington Beach and Westminister boulevards every minute for an hour.

More than 6,500 vehicles passed this point during a twenty-four-hour period October 1. These facts, divulged today by County Highway Superintendent J. L. McBride, are based on a traffic census taken by men working for him, at the direction of the United States Road bureau.

It was also shown that during a twenty-four-hour period, a total of 27,327 vehicles, bearing approximately $3,511 persons, passed five intersections at various points in the county.

Charts Prove Figures
These facts, and many more, are indicated in large diagrams at McBride's office. The charts, drawn on the graph system showing a 24-hour period, were compiled by three men who spent at least three days at each intersection counting and recording the passage of vehicles. The intersections of Huntington Beach and Westminister boulevards, Commonwealth avenue, Fullerton, Santa Ana, and Olive center, were watched.

At each of these places, during that period, three men, working in eight-hour shifts, kept record of all passing vehicles, tabulating their class, the direction in which they were traveling, and other details.

4 to 5 Busy Hour
Heaviest traffic on all roads is between 4 and 5 p. m., the investigation disclosed. During that hour the peak was reached in every chart.

During an average day, the county highways included in the observation, bare a total weight of 15,216,000 pounds, it was estimated. This was deduced from the fact that 1,902 trucks weighing on an average four tons each, were chocked up.

For instance, at Olive, where the lightest traffic was recorded, it was discovered that on October 6, 4802 automobiles passed that point. The next day only 2090 were tabulated.

FIVE BID FOR NEWPORT JOB ON BRIDGE

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 10.—At the meeting of the Newport Beach city board of trustees, November 6, presided over by George Wilson, six bids were opened for the new steel bridge across the Santa Ana river on Central avenue, and its concrete abutments. The bids were as follows:

Frank H. Greene, $26,640; Ledbetter Construction company, $22,771; James Frasier, $26,650; Mercereau Bridge and Construction company, $22,055, and Baker Iron Works, bridge only, $5,390. The city engineer's estimate for the work was $21,000. The bids were referred to the board as a committee of the whole and the city engineer.

Plant Sale Offered.
Since the outcome of the recent election showed the people to be 7 to 1 in favor of disposing of the gas distributing plant, the board advertised the plant for sale, bids to be opened December 12, 1922. At this time the first reading of the ordinance providing referendum on Ordinance Number 216, which prohibits camping and changing of bathing suits in automobiles parked on city streets, will be read. This election is to be held December 12.

The ordinance 220 was passed for its first reading. It establishes the grade along that portion of the bulkhead on Balboa Island which is to be improved with a new sea wall.

New Sewer Planned.
A septic tank site is to be erected and a new sewer system for Balboa Island to be constructed in the immediate future.

The city attorney reported that during the preceding month the city recorder had been "mixed up" over the demanding of cash bonds to keep the peace from some defendants when he had no legal right to do so. As a portion of such bonds must be returned, the city recorder was instructed to present the board of city trustees with his docket, explaining the circumstances in detail of each case.

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 10.—Members of Newport Beach Ebell club were entertained by Mrs. W. W. Crozier, Bay avenue, on Past Presidents' day. The speaker was Miss Jennie Lasby, of the Santa Ana junior college, who spoke of her experiences with Alaskan Indians. She illustrated her talk with totem poles, baskets and rugs and needle work done by these Indians.

Mrs. P. E. Cooley followed with a few experiences of her life on an Indian reservation in Montana, and displayed a pipe of peace that had been given her by one of the tribes for her service in solving social problems on the reservations.

Hot doughnuts and apple cider were served. The men who accompanied the members of the Ebell club expressed appreciation of the evening's entertainment.

GLEE CLUB EASILY FORMED BY WOMEN

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 10.—With splendid voices, many of them well trained, and many capable musicians available, it has been comparatively easy to organize a community singing and music study club in Newport Beach. The club is under the patronage of the Women's Civic League, and the Ebell club of Newport Beach.

Mrs. W. W. Brown, an active member of both clubs, explained that weekly meetings are Tuesday evenings at 7:30 in the Civic League clubrooms, on Palm avenue. These have been well attended, she said. It was agreed to have a specially trained singer supervise training in glee and folk songs, as well as patriotic songs that are to be on the programs. Use of the auditorium in the Newport Beach school house for public recitals, has been offered. At the recitals, which are free, a public speaker of prominence discussing topics of interest, as well as a discussion of musical compositions, will be featured.

Mrs. Marie Woerz, at the piano, will direct; Mrs. Joseph A. Beek is to accompany on the violin, and H. Cardozo Sloan will play a brass instrument, and Joseph A. Beek will wield the baton.

SANTA ANA ELEVEN READY FOR HARD TILT WITH PASADENA

LEGION POST PLANS STRONG BALL CLUB

Fans Figure Santa Ana Men Have Chance for Title of Harbor League

Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion, is ready to begin its schedule in the Orange County Harbor baseball league.

"Jug" Walters, manager of the post's club, has gathered together a formidable aggregation which will travel to Irvine Sunday afternoon for its first tangle in the chase after the A. G. Spalding trophy.

The Legion has closed negotiations for a baseball diamond of its own on West Fifth street west of the Aming brothers nurseries. The field, however, is not in condition for play yet and the Santa Ana men will reverse their opening day schedule and play Irvine at the latter place.

It is believed that the fray a week from Saturday will be played at the home grounds of Jack Cardall and "Tough" Tyrrell probably will form the battery for the local post. Joe Irvine will be at first, Lee Brown at second, Steve Duhart at short and "Lightning" Franklin is expected to cover third. Walters will play either an infield or an outfield position.

With such men as Neely, Roney, Bob Chestnut, Archie Snodgrass, "Peachy" Emmett and "Buck" Flips available for outfield duty the Legion is well fortified in that department.

Local baseball fans believe the Legionnaires stand a good chance of coping the title in the harbor league.

NOTRE DAME, ARMY TO PLAY TOMORROW

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Notre Dame and the Army, which are establishing a traditional east-middle west intersectional classic, will furnish the feature game of the week on the football program tomorrow.

Notre Dame, ranking as one of the greatest football institutions of the country, has sent an undefeated eleven to West Point to meet one of the best rounded and most powerful teams that has ever carried the army emblem.

It should be a game for the gods, with Notre Dame favored only because the Hoosiers have become addicted to the habit of springing something new every year on the plains of the academy and beating the soldiers.

From a strict eastern standpoint, the opening of the "big three" series at Cambridge, with the undefeated Princeton and Harvard eleven opposing each other, will be a big feature game.

Because Princeton is thought to have a weaker defense and Harvard a more perfect all around team, the Crimson is being picked by most of the critics to win.

Several other attractive intersectional games outside of the Notre Dame-Army battle are on the card. Syracuse will furnish the lone international game of the season, with McGill University of Montreal. The Navy plays St. Xavier of Cincinnati and the powerful W. and J. eleven meets Wabash of Indiana.

Feature games of the western conference will bring together Chicago and Ohio State, Illinois and Wisconsin and Minnesota and Iowa. The big games of the south will be played between Georgetown and Georgia Tech and Centre and Washington and Lee.

Washington University and California have the place of honor on the Pacific coast card.

TROJANS LEAVE FOR GAME WITH STANFORD

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—The trojans of the University of Southern California football squad left here last night for San Francisco where they will remain until Saturday just before their class with the Cardinals at the Stanford stadium.

Coach Henderson was "Cheery Gus" on this trip and was figuring on one score better than Stanford in the game. After this burst of optimism, however, he added with a touch of the old melancholy that "you never can tell."

TIGER CAPTAIN SURE OF TEAM'S VICTORY

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 10.—"Colgate were Crimsons jerseys. So did Chicago, and Harvard's going to wear them Saturday. Crimsons are our meat," Mel Dickenson, captain of the Princeton eleven, said before the team left for Cambridge.

BILLARD STARS TO BEGIN PLAY MONDAY

The world series of billiards, the international 18.2 balkline championship tournament for professionals, is scheduled to start next Monday at New York.

The outstanding figure of the tournament very naturally is Jake Schaefer, world's champion billiardist. He is confident of successfully defending his title.

"I think I will win it. I am playing just as good, if not better, than last year. I was good enough to win them."

That is the very modest way in which Jake Schaefer sizes up the coming tournament.

No False Modesty Schaefer isn't a very good press agent. He does very little talking. He reserves his execution for the cue. He has no false modesty. He never overrates himself or underrates an opponent.

Besides Schaefer, five other great players are entered in the professional tournament which will be staged at the Hotel Pennsylvania from November 13 to 21.

Willie Hoppe, whom Schaefer defeated for the title, is perhaps the most interesting figure among the noted players. The defeat of Hoppe was the biggest upset in years. Hoppe hopes to regain his lost laurels.

Foreigners to Play Roger Conti of France, Erik Hagelach of Germany and E. Horemans of Belgium comprise the foreign delegation. They are all champions of their respective countries.

Conti, champion of France, is the only billiard player to score a victory over Jake Schaefer in the last big tournament. Conti is a brilliant, but trifle erratic player. After Schaefer won the title he toured the country with him. There are many who insist that Conti is one of the players Schaefer need fear.

Wolker Cochran, who is a brilliant player when on the game, is the sixth member seeking the championship.

SIKI LOSES TITLE, POSITION IN RING

Senegalese Battler In Bad With Boxing Officials After Outbreak

BY JOHN O'BRIEN (United Press Staff Correspondent) PARIS, Nov. 10.—Buried under the ruins of a fairytale kingdom that crashed down on him, Battling Siki, the "wild man from Senegal" and the heavyweight champion of Europe, was looking toward the ring for his doom.

Barred from the ring for nine months, deprived of his French heavyweight and light heavyweight championship and facing the possibility of having all his titles removed by the international boxing federation, Siki, the hero and idol of a month ago, was tossed by one swift stroke almost into the renegade class.

Siki's jungle instincts got the better of him Wednesday night, when he let the fist that had knocked out the gorgeous Georges Carpentier fly against the jaw of the manager of a boxer who had knocked out a friend he was seconding—and the jaw descended on him with one telling stroke.

The Senegalese was a subdued battler today. He was astounded and puzzled by the sudden change in his fortunes, which had changed him from an idol of the boulevard into an outcast of the gutter. From a ham and bean second rounder in the ring he rose to international fame when he scored a fluke victory over Carpentier. Money came fast and tribute in a torrent. It went to his head.

He renounced his race and caused riots in the American drinking places where they would not accord him the same treatment that was given by the French. Slowly but surely he pulled the foundation out from his throne.

"I don't know what was the matter with me," Siki said penitently in an interview with the United Press today. "I'm sorry for what I did and I hope the public will forgive me. I know I didn't act as a champion should act and I will willingly abandon the titles if they will only let me alone. I want to go some place else and fight if they'll let me. I've had enough of this."

Siki's manager was in a furious rage at the act of the French boxing federation in changing his charge from a most wonderful meat ticket to a liability with a lot of debts on his hands. His hopes of a million francs and eats for the rest of his days went glimmering in a little wisp of smoke.

Paris, first to cheer and first to rage, engaged in public applause over the downfall of Siki because he had made himself a great nuisance since he became burdened with fame and money. For the first time the color line was beginning to be drawn and it may be drawn permanently as a result of Siki's actions.

Will Award Trophy to Best All-Around Poly Student of Year

The best all-around boy student at the Santa Ana high school during the present year will be rewarded for his efforts. Dr. C. W. Johnson, optometrist at 210 West Fourth street and himself a Poly graduate, today had on display in the window of the Victor Walker sporting goods store a beautiful trophy which he will present to the student who, in the opinion of a committee of high school officials, makes the best record for all-around school work.

This will include participation in athletics and student body activities, scholarship in the classroom and a general attitude toward his school work.

The cup will not be awarded until after the spring athletic season, it was announced.

ARRANGE DOUBLE MAIN EVENT FOR NEXT DELHI FIGHT CARD

DELHI CARD Double Main Event — Leo Matlock, Los Angeles vs. Tom Kelly, Los Angeles, 160 pounds. Jack Iman, Santa Ana vs. Harry Lee, Huntington Beach, catchweights.

Preliminaries — Kid Louie, Placentia vs. Johnny O'Brien, Kansas City, Mo., 118 pounds. Young Monroe, Los Angeles vs. Toby Montoya, Placentia, 118 pounds.

Dios Burrell, Santa Ana vs. Joe McGill, Los Angeles, 122 pounds. Battling Doty, Wintersburg vs. Joe Riley, Los Angeles, 135 pounds.

Six sterling bouts, headed by a double main event and a feature preliminary that on paper looms as good as either of the first two bouts, will be offered on Wednesday night, Boyd Ellis, promoter, announced today.

Tom Kelly, in the absence of Kid Mexico who has taken himself to Long Beach to work in the oil fields, will clash with Leo Matlock, the big slugger who fought a torrid four rounds with Young George at Vernon last Tuesday night. Jack Iman, local boy, will tangle with Harry Lee, the husky Huntington Beach lifeguard. These four gentlemen's sluggers will furnish the said double main tilt.

Kid Louie, the pride of Placentia, will return to the Delhi arena after a long absence for the feature event. Louie, who has been battling for several months in main events and semi-windups at Covina, will take on Johnny O'Brien, a boy who joined Tommy McFarland's stable recently. O'Brien has a long list of victories to his credit at Kansas City, Mo.

The Iman-Lee fray should prove one of the best drawing cards that Ellis has had this season. Iman has not battled at Delhi since he allowed himself to get in poor condition and suffered a couple of bad beatings. But he is out to redeem himself. He has been working out steadily at a gymnasium in Los Angeles and nothing would suit him better than to stop the good looking Lee, whose few fights at Delhi, have made him the sensation of the 1922, boxing season here. Iman will be outweighted approximately fifteen pounds but his experience should make up for it.

Louie always has been a favorite with the local bugs and there are many who will welcome the return of the little 118 pounder. The Placentia boy is fast, clever and a hard hitter. The bugs hope that this fellow O'Brien can give him a battle.

Young Monroe, the little Los Angeles left-hander, and Toby Montoya have been re-matched for another session. Two weeks ago the pair offered one of the best bouts on the card.

Dios Burrell of Santa Ana will be seen in action again. He will mill with Joe McGill.

Battling Doty, whom fans around Wintersburg claim is a coming champion, goes on with Joe Riley, Los Angeles, in the curtain raiser.

The Register's Gridiron History Of Santa Ana High School Teams

Pioneers of Game Here Received no Encouragement From Education Officials; Dresser, Bishop Only Men '93 Squad Who Live in County; First Real Eleven Formed in 1894

The fall of 1893 gave Santa Ana high school its first football team.

It took hard work to round up enough students to make up even one eleven. There were absolutely no facilities. The players furnished their own suits, their own footballs and dug up their own grounds. They received no encouragement from anyone save a few of the early sportsmen of the city who helped fill in the eleven.

Such were the pioneers of Santa Ana football.

Al Dresser, now foreman of the C. C. Collins packing house and Roy Bishop, former horticultural commissioner of Orange county, are the only two members of the high school's first aggregation that live in these parts at the present time. The others reside elsewhere but it's a safe bet that they look back on the torrid grid practices with fond remembrance.

The first real football team, so far as games with outside schools were concerned, was developed in the fall of '94.

Emerson J. Marks, Fullerton attorney who played on the squad, remembers that only about half the players were from the high school, and the rest came from around town. "Husky" Young, "Shorty" Mosbaugh and Bob Watt, who was then in high school, furnished the beef in the line. Clyde Hickey and Marks played halves and John T. Nourse, now an appellate judge, was quarterback. A big husky named Rubbotom, brother of a Santa boy who went to the University of California and made a great player there was a member of the team. Gorton, a Stanford player, son of a Santa Ana minister, was center.

In a conflict that will show local grid fans how Coach Marvin Morrison's organization compares at this time of the season with other Southern California elevens, the football teams of the Santa Ana and Pasadena high schools will clash at Poly field here tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Aside from the Fullerton game, the contest with the Crown City eleven looms as the best and most important tilt of the year for the local team.

Records lead to the impression that the visitors are in-and-outers or an outfit that plays well one game and not nearly so well the next. Pasadena holds the distinction of tying Franklin high school in a regular Los Angeles City league fracas. Franklin, undefeated to date, is leading that league. The Crown City men defeated Los Angeles high school in a pre-season tilt. Yet Manual Arts high school, a squad that Santa Ana won from rather easily, romped on the team that will come here tomorrow.

Want to Wallow S. A. According to word from Pasadena the visitors are primed for the Santa Ana fray. They are said to look on this game as the biggest of the year. They want to wallop the Southern California champs of last year. At least 500 rooters and supporters of the school are expected to accompany the Crown City Squad here.

Santa Ana's team is ready for the battle. Its hospital list is virtually nil. Roy Le Bard, who was out of the Orange game, is in good shape again and probably will start the game at left half.

Match weight with weight. That is expected to be Coach Morrison's first line battle plan against the visitors.

Pasadena will send on the field a team averaging 160 pounds. The Santa Ana eleven that opened against Orange averaged little more than 150 pounds and yet that outfit looked to have the best line Poly has sent into a skirmish this season.

Pasadena Team Heavy Morrison evidently fears the line battering prowess of the two Pasadena halfbacks, Captain "Jerry" Downs and Dagley, both of whom tip the scales at 160 pounds or more. Downs was regarded as second only to "Bart" Cook of the locals as a line plunger last year. He is playing his fourth season with Pasadena.

Morrison has enough good linemen on his squad so that he can offer a formidable defense of comparative light men or of players heavier. He has used his heavy men on his first string lineup all week.

Fipps and Sheets, both weighing more than 200 pounds, probably will draw the guard assignments tomorrow. Dungan and Townsend are certain to break into the game. Stillins has a bad leg but he is expected to start with Ed Linsenbard in reserve.

Thole's work against Orange was of such order that he is hoped to be a sure starter at tackle with James Coulson as a running mate. Coffman and Gardner are certain to be at the ends.

The regular backs, Captain Wilcox, Jabs, Black and Le Bard, are sure to open up the line.

The first stringers took it easy last night. They went through some snappy signal work with forward passing occupying most of the attention, tossed the ball around awhile and scampered to the showers before dark. A chalk talk, in which some of Coach's formations and plays will probably come in for some discussion, was on the menu for this afternoon.

Others on the first string eleven, however, did not get off so easily. Under the watchful eye of Coaches Ralph Shallenberger and Bill Cole these men went through nearly an hour of hard scrimmage with the "outlaws," an aggregation that would look good on any man's team.

The "outlaws" had Everett and Elliott Best, Calvin Bell and "Brick" Armstrong from last year's title team, Coach Cole, Joe Smith of the U. S. C. freshmen, Jack Remsburg, John McFadden, last year's Poly track captain, and several second string men.

Siki Divided Time After War as Waiter in Cafe, Fighter in Ring

Chapter 4 By BATTLING SIKI (As Told to Milton Bronner, N. E. A. Correspondent)

When the war was over, my artillery regiment was sent to Versailles near Paris. I was demobilized shortly afterward.

I was Corporal Louis Phal, with two decorations and honorable wounds. Also, I had no job and only 200 francs. But I wanted to be through dish washing.

I asked for a job as a waiter in a little restaurant. The owner was a good fellow. He saw my medals and gave me a chance, even if I did break plates occasionally. His was a plain little place where you didn't have to put on a lot of style. No, the work was much nicer than dish washing.

Two More Fights I had a couple of fights in 1920. I went to Toulouse and beat Henrys in 10 rounds on points, and knocked out J. Andouy in four rounds, after losing to him on points six years before.

One day I had my arm full of dishes and a man came to me and said: "You are Siki!"

I told him I was. He said he wanted me to fight in Paris, against Derenzi, champion of the French army. The boss let me off to train, as he thought I won or put up a good losing fight. The patrons would know Siki, the fighter, was waiting on them. Maybe he was a sly dog.

I knocked out Derenzi in three rounds.

Lacked Manager I may be a fair fighter, but I am a rotten business man. I am almost ashamed to tell you how little I got for licking the army champion—300 francs, which was only about $25 in American money then!

I don't think I only got a little money because I am colored. No, I think it is because until I met Charles Heller, my present manager, I never had anybody to advise me what I ought to get. Why, even in my biggest fights with men like Journee and Carpentier, I drew down small sums.

After beating Derenzi I could get other fights to carry me along until the next one, in the spring of 1920 I knocked out V. Marchand and Westbrook and won from Le-Fevre, J. Depaus, Rene Devos and J. Liggett.

"Meal Ticket" Days But I wasn't getting anywhere. I was only considered a fourth rater, fighting fourth raters. Nobody believed in me, and I wasn't ambitious. I liked eating and fighting, and fought to eat.

I would fight anybody if a price

EXPERT CLAIMS UNDERWEIGHT DANGER OMEN!

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—"Beware of underweight," says Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, Medical Director of the Life Extension Institute, "it may indicate malnutrition, with its attendant evils."

According to Dr. Fisk, the average boy of thirteen needs 3,000 calories per day, or as many as his father. The food requirements of a family average the following, says this authority.

Calories per day. Father 3,000 Mother 2,500 Boy of 13 3,000 Boy or girl of 11 2,500 Boy or girl of 7 2,100

"It is often stated that it is not what we eat, but what we digest that nourishes us. This is perfectly true," says Dr. Fisk, "but it is also true that rarely do we fail to digest what we eat, provided of course that we are eating the right kind of food."

The ideal build, according to a table prepared by the Life Extension Institute is:

(Weight at age of 30 for Various Heights)

Men 5 ft. 126 lbs. 5 ft. 1 in. 128 lbs. 5 ft. 2 in. 130 lbs. 5 ft. 3 in. 133 lbs. 5 ft. 4 in. 136 lbs. 5 ft. 5 in. 140 lbs. 5 ft. 6 in. 144 lbs. 5 ft. 7 in. 148 lbs. 5 ft. 8 in. 152 lbs. 5 ft. 9 in. 156 lbs. 5 ft. 10 in. 161 lbs. 5 ft. 11 in. 166 lbs. 6 ft. 172 lbs. 6 ft. 1 in. 178 lbs. 6 ft. 2 in. 184 lbs. 6 ft. 3 in. 190 lbs. 6 ft. 4 in. 196 lbs. 6 ft. 5 in. 201 lbs.

Women 4 ft. 8 in. 112 lbs. 4 ft. 9 in. 114 lbs. 4 ft. 10 in. 116 lbs. 4 ft. 11 in. 118 lbs. 5 ft. 120 lbs. 5 ft. 1 in. 122 lbs. 5 ft. 2 in. 124 lbs. 5 ft. 3 in. 127 lbs. 5 ft. 4 in. 131 lbs. 5 ft. 5 in. 134 lbs. 5 ft. 6 in. 138 lbs. 5 ft. 7 in. 142 lbs. 5 ft. 8 in. 146 lbs.

But if a person takes sufficient food, exercise and rest, has a good color and is otherwise healthy, he need not worry if he is somewhat underweight, according to the tables, especially if he is of light framework. "It is foolish to try to make a dumpling out of a finger roll," says Dr. Fisk.

Summing it up, Dr. Fisk believes that if the normal appetite is maintained through right methods of living, sufficient nourishment will be taken to keep the body up to the required weight for the avoidance of nervous exhaustion and malnutrition.

SHANGHAI RICKSHA MEN MAY LOSE JOBS BY CITY MONOPOLY

SHANGHAI, Nov. 10.—As an outcome of recent ineffective strikes among pullers in Shanghai and in response to a demand voiced in numerous published expressions on the general ricksha question, the Municipal Council of the International Settlement is considering the question of going into the ricksha business itself. This is set forth in an official announcement which says the council is conducting an inquiry into all phases of the question.

At the present time the number of ricksha licenses issued in the International Settlement is limited to 8,000, in addition to something over 2,000 issued to users of private rickshas. The bulk of the licenses for public rickshas is held by three or four concerns, the largest of which operates 3,030 public rickshas.

SAYS SHE FEELS BETTER THAN IN 19 YEARS

"I feel better today than I have in nineteen years, for Tanlac has relieved all my suffering and built me up nearly ten pounds," declared Mrs. F. Ribando, 308 West Ave., 38, Los Angeles, Calif.

"Ever since I was a small girl I have been almost a half invalid, and have suffered terribly from nervousness and stomach trouble. I wasn't able to do my household half the time and I was so nervous I would be upset for days and unable to sleep. My back ached, too, and my face had spots on it which I was told were liver spots.

"Tanalac suited my case exactly. I have taken three bottles now and the results are simply wonderful. I have a good appetite, nothing I eat hurts me, I sleep well, and I am so strong I can do all my household work again."

Tanalac is sold by all good druggists.—Adv.

DEDICATION OF NEW EDIFICE IS SUNDAY

Many church-goers of Santa Ana today are planning to attend the special dedicatory services at Garden Grove Sunday when the new $40,000 Methodist Episcopal church, at Euclid and Stanford streets, is opened for the first service. The following commemorative services have been arranged:

Sunday school: 9:45 a. m.; march from the old church to the new, led by W. D. Junkin, superintendent.

Morning worship, 11:00: piano prelude; hymn 208; the Apostles' Creed; prayer (concluding with choral response); Piano Interlude; Anthem; Psalter, Lesson for 45 Sunday morning; The Gloria Patri; Offertory Solo.

Sermon by the Rev. Clyde M. Cried, D. D.: Hymn 482; Benediction; Piano postlude.

The program for Dedication Week is:

Monday, Sunset Sociable, 10:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m.; Public reception, 7:00 p. m. Tuesday, 7:00 p. m., Sunday School Rally; Address, W. A. Brown, D. D. Wednesday, 7:00 p. m., Address by the Rev. Bromley Oxman, D. D. Thursday, 7:00 p. m., Missionary Rally; W. H. M. S., Mrs. W. M. Northrup; W. F. M. S., Mrs. S. F. Johnson. Friday, 7:00 p. m., evening of music, choir, Irvine German, leader, assisted by H. S. Glee Club.

The building, of Spanish Mission style, covers 56 by 138 feet. It contains thirty class rooms and also assembly rooms for the Sunday school departments. Beautiful art glass enhances the appearance, and gives a pleasing effect to the main auditorium, which is richly furnished with quarter-sawn oak pews and pulpit furniture.

The seating capacity, with wings open, is approximately 600. The building has a pastor's study, women's parlor, a well equipped kitchen, and social rooms, which will seat fully 300 at the tables and convenient lavatories connecting with septic tank.

The latest in indirect lighting systems is used in both auditoriums.

All rooms will be comfortably heated by gas radiators with outside vent. An adequate ventilating system will insure fresh air without annoying draughts. Provisions have been made for a pipe organ to be installed later.

The old church building will be disposed of and suitable grounds and parking spaces will be provided.

FRANCE PLANS TO REBUILD HER NAVY

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Aiming at the reconstruction of the French navy, bringing it up to its pre-war strength, but taking into account the limitation imposed by the Washington agreement the minister of marine has elaborated a project calling for the expenditure of about 20,000,000 yearly for the next twenty years. The plan will be presented to the present session of the chamber of deputies.

Naval experts have recently been laying stress on the fact that France's sea defenses have never been so weak in comparison with other nations since Napoleonic days. Construction was suspended during the war and scores of ships are out of date. A writer in the Petit Parisien sums up the total of France's fighting strength as six dreadnaughts, five light cruisers, 38 large destroyers, 41 submarines, with three old style cruisers of the Voltaire type (10,800 tons), ten others of a still older pattern and a dozen or so torpedo boats, practically useless.

As far as coast defense is concerned, none of the heavy batteries has a range beyond ten kilometers (less than four miles). Most of the hydroplanes and other aerial defense weapons are out of date.

Comparing the navies of France and Italy, which were placed on the same footing at the Washington conference, it is found that while the number of dreadnaughts is the same for both, Italy has a much superior light surface fleet in number and quantity.

The minister of marines proposes to ask for appropriations for tonnage annually. He will demand provision for 175,000 tons for cruisers; 330,000 tons for light cruisers, torpedo boats and destroyers and 65,000 tons for submarines and small coast defense craft.

MUCH TWINE NEEDED BY POSTAL SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Enough twine to encircle the earth more than 13 times is wanted by the Post Office Department. Bids have been asked for 1,000,000 pounds of two-ply jute twine. This amount of twine is only half a year's supply used by the department throughout the entire service.

The twine is put up in balls weighing half a pound each, thus the order will consist of 2,000,000 balls. As each ball contains 300 yards, there will be 600,000,000 in the lot, or 340,869 miles of twine.

WIFE WOULD BE FREE OF MATE WHO DOESN'T LIKE 'LONG MARRIAGE'

Marriage is too permanent to suit Laurence D. Mawson, his wife, Mary, alleged in a divorce complaint filed in superior court here today.

"I'm tired of being married," the wife claimed her husband frequently shouted. "I'm not married forever."

He called her a flapper, and also applied to her indecent Spanish names, Mrs. Mawson asserted.

The husband also maligned his mother-in-law's reputation, Mrs. Mawson charged.

The wife seeks the custody of a 5-year-old child, $150 attorney's fees, and $40 a month.

SAN BERNARDINO TO HAVE GRAPE STORAGE

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 10.—Tentative plans for a $175,000 ice plant to be used by the grape growers of the Etiwanda and Cucamonga districts were announced yesterday by E. G. Weckbaugh, promoter and former transportation man.

The first unit is being planned to accommodate 500 cars of grapes. The ice and refrigeration plant will be located adjacent to the Santa Fe or one of its spurs it is said.

Weckbaugh stated that the present demand for and prices paid for California grapes were causing an increased number of growers to enter the field in the west end districts. At present the market time for California fruit is limited to practically a 60-day period, but with proper refrigeration this may be extended to seven months of the year.

Eight cold storage rooms, 50x20 feet and ice machinery capable of producing from 35 to 40 tons daily, are contemplated.

VOTE TO ALTER CHIROPRACTOR CASE STEPS?

With the bill authorizing a state board of examiners which will be empowered to license chiropractors in California, scheduled to go in effect within sixty days following its success at the polls Tuesday, local interest in the measure today centered around the attitude which the district attorney's office here will take in regard to the three cases pending against chiropractors charged with practicing in Orange county without a license from the state board of medical examiners.

With the charge against Dr. J. A. Hatch, of Santa Ana, scheduled for hearing next Wednesday, Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley announced that District Attorney A. P. Nelson and his assistants probably would determine what course will be taken in their regard within the next few days.

At the same time, Mozley indicated that the district attorney's office probably will drop the charges if the three defendants will agree to discontinue their practice until they have obtained a license from the new chiropractic board.

In discussing his version of what the status of the cases will be, a well known Santa Ana chiropractor today declared his belief that the district attorney's office should drop the charges against the defendants altogether.

"We have fought this thing too long," he said, "to agree to any arrangement whereby we will give up our rightful practice now that

"Did ye iver make a speech?"

"I did wanst," said Mr. Dooley. And then he tells what happened! That's the way FINLEY PETER DUNNE brings back to life the two most famous characters ever created by an American humorist—Mr. Dooley and Mr. "Hinnissey." They have been absent from the journalistic stage just long enough to make you wonder how you ever managed to get along without them. No characters in American literature have ever been able to take their place. And it really seems that Mr. Dooley's rich and quaint philosophy strikes a new note in American humor, it's all so fresh again, like the freshness of spring after a long winter. And, best of all, Dr. Dooley comes back to us like fine wine improved by storage. Every line sparkles with his rare Irish wit.

Mr. Dooley on Oratory, By Finley Peter Dunne

The first of the new series of "Dooley Stories" appearing in next Sunday's Examiner marks an achievement unparalleled in all the history of journalism. It brings to The City Life Section of The Sunday Examiner the last of the SIX FOREMOST HUMORISTS IN THE WORLD. It would break any individual newspaper on earth to meet the payroll represented alone by these six mighty names. There is only one magazine published—The Cosmopolitan—that has ever attempted to present in one issue such an array of world-famous humorists as these six brilliant stars, who will make that ONE SECTION ALONE worth more than the price of the whole Sunday Examiner.

Think of It! In One Section Alone of Sunday's Examiner You'll Find:

FINLEY PETER DUNNE'S Mr. Dooley on Oratory.	H. C. WITWER'S "Shooting Stars."	IRVIN S. COBB'S "How Far Did George Go?"
MONTAGUE GLASS' "After the Atlantic Ocean Went Dry."	RING LARDNER'S "Laying Out a Life Schedule."	GEORGE ADE'S "What They Hankered For."

VIEWS ON ZONE ORDINANCE TO BE REVEALED AT MEETING

Industrial and Residence Area Law Bounds May Be Set Tonight

WILL DISCUSS MAP

Main Factory District Is Confined to Vicinity of R. R. Tracks

Residents of Santa Ana who are interested in the boundary lines of residence, business and industrial sections, tonight will have an opportunity to give final expression to opinions as to such lines before an ordinance establishing districts is passed.

A public meeting has been called for tonight at 7:30 in the council chambers, where the city trustees will sit in official adjourned session to discuss the proposed zoning ordinance with men and women who may be interested.

To Create Four Zones
A map with tentative lines was presented to the council last Monday night. It was considered that these lines will become permanent unless it can be conclusively shown to the council tonight that the boundaries of the districts are not to the best interests of the city.

It is proposed to create four districts, two of which will be for industrial, one for business and one for residence.

The industrial and business sections will not eliminate residence buildings, but business and industrial will be prohibited in the residence district.

The proposed location of a business structure at the northeast corner of Washington avenue and Main street is conceded to be more or less responsible for the ordinance coming up at this time.

At Tenth Street
In this connection it is recalled that in the boundaries for the proposed business district, North Main street is included to a point 150 feet north of Tenth street, which makes the north line on that street for the business district the south line of the site of the new Washington school.

The main industrial district is confined largely to the vicinity of the railroad tracks and packing houses in the eastern part of the city. A second industrial district is proposed in the west part of the city, extending east and west from Western avenue to Sullivan street and north and south from First to Hickey streets. This is to be known as district No. 3.

Thief Suspect Escapes Officer, Only to Be Seized by City Marshal

Harry Rohe, 18, was held in the county jail today, awaiting the arrival of Whittier authorities, following his arrest here last night by police, who apprehended him on suspicion of participation in the hold-up of a Standard Oil station in the Quaker city last night.

Rohe was captured by City Marshal Sam Jernigan, after he had broken away from Officer C. L. Neuschwanger, while the latter was searching him in the office of Copson's garage.

Late yesterday afternoon, police here received word from Whittier authorities, to the effect that two lads, in a car rented from Copson's garage, had held up a Standard Oil service station at Whittier, and had escaped with about $36 in silver.

Officer Neuschwanger, acting on the "hunch" that the lads might have returned the car to Copson's, went there, to find one of the lads in the office. While he was going through Rohe's pockets, in search of firearms, Rohe made a dash, only to run into the arms of Jernigan, who had followed Neuschwanger.

The comrade of the lad arrested escaped.

SECRECY VEILS STUNT PLANS OF TEACHERS

Veiled in deepest mystery, plans for the various "stunts" that the staid pedagogues of Santa Ana are to "put on" Tuesday night at the high school gymnasium here on the occasion of the City Teachers' league's first meeting of the winter season, are nevertheless going forward apace, it was stated today.

With the edict from the headquarters of Edward Hummel, league president, that each school should contribute a stunt to the evening's entertainment, committees in the various schools immediately set to work, each with determination to keep its plans a secret and also to put on the best stunt.

Whisperings of comedy and vaudeville to be staged by the dignified pedagogues have leaked out from school circles and as the date for the social meeting approaches the suspense grows.

The Teachers' league was organized for the purpose of promoting the interests of the teachers along social and professional lines. All teachers in the city are members of the league and it is the ambition to keep the members in touch with educational problems elsewhere and to provide lectures and entertainments from time to time.

The Teachers' league plays an important part in educational circles, it was stated, as it forms the foundation for other organizations such as the California Teachers' association and the National Education association.

The first meeting of the present school year will be a specially enjoyable one because of its entertainment feature and because it will give new teachers and those who have been here before a chance to get acquainted, it was pointed out.

BOOK WEEK FOR CHILDREN IS SCHEDULED

Nation-wide Movement to Stimulate Tots' Interest In Reading

Stimulating interest in books, reading and the many uses of libraries, children's book week will be nationally observed next week, November 12 to 18, Miss Jeannette McFadden, Santa Ana's librarian, said today.

"Children's book week last year was decidedly successful," she said. "All the school children made posters announcing the week and its features for exhibition purposes."

All Tots Interested
"I do not believe there was a single child of school age in Santa Ana last year who did not know of and take part in the book week."

"Naturally the purpose of the week was attained and circulation of books among children was greatly increased."

"Special interest was created by the showing of the film, 'The Last of the Mohicans.' Probably the same film or one of a similar nature will be shown this year. Definite arrangements have not yet been made."

Set Special Days
"Boy Scouts books and other books for boys will be featured this year Tuesday, November 14, Campfire girls' books and books for girls generally will be on display Wednesday, Friday will be given over to the 'little people' and everything will be done to entertain them with suitable reading matter."

"Throughout the week the display table in the library will be filled with illustrated books similar to the Christmas season display. Parents seem to enjoy the display table, as it enables them to see the books, examine them and decide on such volumes as they desire to purchase for their children."

WOULD GIVE 'TEETH' TO RAIL WAGE BODY

(United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—With organized labor avowedly out to abolish the railroad labor board in the forthcoming bill in congress over the extension of its powers, friends of the board are preparing a program of "improvements" for the tribunal to submit to congress as soon as it convenes.

Claiming that the board has never since its creation been more than a battleground for "selfish, contending interests" because of deficiencies in the law creating it, these proponents of the board have drafted a two-paragraph amendment of which will be sought to forestall the drastic action desired by labor.

Primarily, a set of fundamental principles, a sort of "bill of rights" setting forth the rights of labor, the railroad and the public in all disputes brought before the board, will be asked of congress. This is deemed essential as a foundation on which the board will base all its decisions, just as the constitution is the foundation of all judicial decisions and the source of a single standard of administering justice.

STATUTORY CASE TO BE RE-TRIED JAN. 17

Roy Britton, Fullerton, will undergo a second trial on statutory charges involving Zella Vaughan, Fullerton high school girl, beginning January 17. The trial date was set today by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams.

The retrial was made necessary because the jury at the first trial failed to agree on a verdict. It was understood that the jury stood 9 to 3 for conviction at that time.

COLLEGE SHOW WILL SPARKLE IS PROMISE

While George Gerwing, manager-in-chief, and his corps of junior college vaudevillians were making feverish, last-minute preparations today for the "Knock 'em Dead" semi-Broadway show that they are to put on at the high school auditorium here tonight, some of the details of a number of the acts became known.

Miss Isabel Anderson, in charge of the first act on the program, "The League of Nations," divulged merely that more than likely the title will have nothing to do with the act itself.

The characters are the members of the Symphony Seven orchestra, the Misses Evelyn Babbitt, Gwendolyn Tubbs, Anna Grace McElree, Kathleen "Trago, Geraldine Rodriguez, Maxine Berge and Doris Hill. Someone spying on the proceedings said that the league was meeting in a Moscow cafe at midnight and that it looked like a gathering of Trotsky's playmates.

Synopsis Act Planned.
"The Symphony Seven" is the title of the second act. It is whispered that a surprise is in store for those who see these synopsis experts perform. They are Spencer Hill, Robert Green, Charles Dawes, Paul Allen, Floyd Grigsby, Kenneth Baird and Byron Stumpf. They guarantee to present "everything that is popular."

"Nine o'Clock" is a comedy in one act with the scene in a room in a college dormitory. The characters are not given but the act is produced by Lester Schroeder, the peppy high school yell leader, and the managers declare it is the "best yet."

Everybody expects Elliot Best, student body president to produce a real laugh with his blackface act. He calls his stunt "The Cloud and the Lily."

Details of the act, "Moonshine," a play in one act staged by Stanley Wheelock and George Gerwing, remain undivulged.

Chorus Is Headliner.
The last act will be the big act, known as "The Orpheus Chorus," produced by Miss Margaret Wickes, head of the music department.

"The Garden Wall" is the title of the act. It is expected that it will make a hit, for the students have been rehearsing early and late.

The students in that act are Elizabeth Anderson, Estelle Higgins, Vera Helmes, Lillian Arthur, Thelma Simmons, Dorothy Sammis, Thelma Van Nest, Hazel Kintzel, Bernice Hayward, Marcia Carmichael, Stanley Wheelock, Robert Budrow, Harry Farrar, Carl Hage, Carl Opp, Philip Taylor, Claude Hayward, Herschel Settle, Wilson Glazner, Martin Gulek.

The managers say that in addition to the acts programmed there will be much comedy and jazz thrown in for good measure and that every "customer" will get his money's worth.

BRIDGE TOURNEY TO GET CLUB FUND PLAN

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 10.—For the purpose of augmenting its building fund, the Laguna Beach Community Club will hold a bridge tournament, November 20, 27, December 4, 11, and 18. An admission of twenty-five cents will be charged.

A board meeting of the Community club has been called for Saturday evening, November 11, at which time reports from the chairman of the building fund campaign, begun last month, will be received.

There seems to be no doubt about the desired amount being raised, and that the building of the much needed Community club house will begin at an early date.

BIG BEAR VALLEY TO HAVE MOVIE CITY, IS PLAN OF PRODUCERS

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 10.—Big Bear Valley will have a movie colony. This was established early last week when the Universal Film company sent 40 movie actors to the valley to be employed in the filming of two big productions this winter and laid the foundation for the erection of a modern studio.

The dimensions of the studio will be proportionately small this winter to the number of productions to be put out by the company, but plans are said to be under consideration to enlarge the studio next year as activity is increased.

Establishment of a studio in Big Bear Valley will facilitate filming of mountain scenes in big plays of the Universal company, many of their stellar productions consisting of a plot that originates in the wilds and all indoor "shots" can be taken in the hills.

Heretofore only outdoor scenes could be taken in the mountains, but with the erection of the studio the most intricate indoor parts calling for elaborate settings can be filmed without leaving the hills.

Present plans of the Universal are to keep a small colony of actors in the mountains the biggest part of the winter to take advantage of valuable scenes afforded by the snow-laden trees and white-barked firs.

One western production now being filmed in the valley is nearing completion, so far as mountain scenes are concerned. Villagers watch the actors with interest and boosters exultantly herald the advent of the studio.

$80,000,000 ASTOR MONEY IN ENGLAND

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—There was much speculation in New York today over the reported statement in London yesterday by John Jacob Astor that he was transferring his wealth from America to England.

The realty and personal holdings of the late Baron (William Waldorf) Astor in the United States totaled more than $80,000,000. Of this vast fortune, in which Major Astor participated with Viscount Astor, his elder brother, $50,000,000 is represented in realty.

The property was conveyed to the two sons in trust in 1913, and the income from that source is placed at $5,291,260. In addition Major Astor was given outright by his father Manhattan realty valued at more than $7,000,000.

Several pieces of New York property have been sold by Major Astor in the last few years, but it is considered unlikely he will dispose of all real estate in this country, but rather will transfer his income or personal property to England.

Major Astor, in conjunction with John A. Walter, recently purchased the late Lord Northcliffe's London times at price stated as $6,075,000.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY FOR THE RELIEF OF Pain in the Stomach and Bowels, Intestinal Cramp COLIC, DIARRHOEA - SOLD EVERYWHERE -

SET PRECEDENT AS MOTORIST SENTENCED

Marking the first time that a person has been sentenced to state's prison from Orange county for a similar offense and scoring the defendant as having been untruthful while testifying at his trial, Superior Judge R. Y. Williams today ordered J. J. Murphy confined at San Quentin for from one to three years, following his conviction of a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

A jury after deliberating only thirty-two minutes returned a verdict of guilty late yesterday. In pronouncing sentence the court roundly censured not only the defendant but his wife for their asserted prevarications while testifying. The court also branded Murphy as a bootlegger.

Murphy was arrested at Westminster one night last April following a series of episodes, one of which was characterized by the manifestation of a fancy on the part of Murphy to disrobe both himself and his wife. This mood was induced, it was believed, by the necessity of the couple divesting themselves of clothing which had become mired when they engaged in physical combat at the bottom of an eight-foot drainage ditch at Westminster.

The disrobing attempt was said to have taken place during a somewhat belligerent automobile jaunt in which Mr. and Mrs. Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. James Adams, all of Los Angeles, participated.

Called to the stand in defense of her husband, Mrs. Murphy, a large woman, told a story of her alleged temper, of how she and her husband fought at the bottom of the drainage ditch and of how they fought again in the room of a hotel at Westminster, making so much noise that they were arrested.

"I got mad easily," the woman admitted. "We began fighting when we left Los Angeles. When we started back to Los Angeles from Huntington Beach, we got lost, and got off the paved highway."

"There were drainage ditches on each side of this dirt road. After a while we tried to turn around, and the rear wheels of the car went into the ditch."

Fell in Ditch
"Mrs. Adams and I walked back from the car about fifty feet. I was stooping over near the ditch, when I fell in. Mrs. Adams shouted and her husband came to the rescue."

Adams proved too slight for the task of raising Mrs. Murphy, however, and yielding under the stalwart grasp of Mrs. Murphy, he was drawn into the mire at the bottom of the ditch, she testified.

"I was getting madder all the time," Mrs. Murphy told the jury. "When my husband came to help me out, I wouldn't let him. I was sore, and I pulled him down in with Mr. Adams and me. We fought down there in the mud." Exit from the ditch was finally made, however, testimony showed, but thereupon Adams and Murphy came to blows. The result was that the Adams family walked to Garden Grove, and the Murphys drove the car to Westminster, where, according to witnesses, another series of happenings began.

Stopping at a drug store, Murphy was then said to have made his request for a room "in which to strip this girl." Told by Carl Hagan, proprietor, that a hotel would be better for the purpose, Murphy was said to have mistaken his directions and broken up an Odd Fellows' meeting, under the impression, it was alleged by Deputy District Attorney C.

ENTIRE COUNTY JOINS IN HUGE PAGEANT STAGED AS TRIBUTE TO WAR HEROES

All roads will lead to Fullerton tomorrow!

In commemoration of the return of peace and in honor of those who made the supreme sacrifice for their country, veterans of the World War and thousands of others, including virtually every patriotic organization in Orange county, will join in a monster celebration at the oil city.

And today Fullerton, feverishly anticipating the onslaught of the multitude tomorrow, was a veritable riot of color.

American flags, and flags of all nations, interspersed with bunting and gay-colored ribbons, flashed their welcome to all and sundry.

Early tomorrow, perhaps before dawn, the advance guard of the legions of peace will begin arriving.

Down the gleaming boulevards the caravans will be quietly slipping, much the same as other but more sinister caravans crept along the shell-strewn roads of Flanders in the early morning of wintry days.

But tomorrow, despite the fact that the iron hat and khaki will be much in evidence, will be different from those dark days in the trenches, in that peace will predominate and love will triumph over hate.

Hundreds of men and women, working tirelessly, have labored patiently to make tomorrow's celebration one of the most memorable events of the kind ever attempted in this county.

These men and women represent the best thought of the most progressive country in the world. Tomorrow this thought will find its visible manifestation in one of the most colorful pageants ever staged in Southern California.

4000 in Parade
With approximately 4,000 men, women and children in line, a monster parade, headed by Colonel S. H. Finley and reviewed by William Gibbs McAdoo and others will move with stately grace and majestic color down Commonwealth, a venue, into Spadra street and other downtown streets, and thence to the Fullerton union high school grounds.

Here thousands will assemble to hear the former secretary of the treasury deliver the principal address of the day.

Throughout the day, which will be observed as one of the county's most important holidays, in spite of the fact that it has not been officially designated as such, Fullerton will be a beehive of activity.

From early morning, when the countless units in the great parade begin massing, until late at night, when the last tired dancer winds his way homeward from the grand balls which will be a part of the celebration, there will be but few idle moments.

Shortly after noon, when the great parade is scheduled to disband, William G. McAdoo, John B. Elliott, Major J. M. Hobson and other visitors will be luncheon guests of C. C. Chapman, J. R. Carhart and others.

Grid Clash at 3 P. M.
At 2:30 p. m. McAdoo will finish his address, on the high school campus, and at 3 p. m. the Fullerton and Santa Barbara football teams will clash on the high school gridiron.

Scores of floats, representing virtually every school and civic organization in the county, will be in line when the huge parade swings down Commonwealth avenue.

Entered in the educational division will be three floats from the Santa Ana high school and Junior college. There will be one float from the Junior college.

EAR FOR MUSIC LURES STOLEN BOGGIE HOME

Chum is a water spaniel, with an ear for music and a home loving disposition.

Without either of these characteristics, Chum would be a wanderer today, as he was yesterday, far from the cozy fireside of Leslie Thomas, 914 South Main street.

As it is, the little black dog, sore, muddy, tired to the point of exhaustion, lies contented on the hearth rug in the Thomas home. The little pet was stolen Wednesday night. There was sadness in the household, for Chum held a warm place in the hearts of his master and family.

Then Thomas conceived an unusual idea to locate the purloined pet.

Knows Chime Whistle
Chum, prior to his disappearance, had been an enthusiastic motorist. His master had a five-tone chimes whistle on his automobile, the sound of which Chum knew well.

All over Santa Ana Thomas went in search of the missing dog, blowing the whistle at intervals. Through Delhi and back he drove the car, ever sounding the signal. Just as he was turning into Orange avenue, near McFadden street, he heard a distant bark, short and sharp. Then, across the field of the McFadden tract, came Chum, limping, staggering, and anxiously speeding toward the place whence came the familiar sounds.

Spattered With Mud
He was mud bespattered, exhausted, and wounded — was this little dog?

His coat, cumbered with burrs, will probably have to be sheared. One leg was injured.

But it was a happy dog that lay dozing near the fireside in the Thomas home today.

And members of the family were thanking fate that the beloved pet's ear had been so keenly attuned to the melodious notes of the chimes whistle.

EPISODE TWELVE
Her Highness Intervenes
CHAPTER I

Toward noon the wind changed, and about one o'clock it began to snow.

Eve, exhausted, lay on the sofa in her bedroom. Her step-father lay on a table in the dance hall below, covered by a sheet from his own bed. And beside him sat Trooper Stormont, waiting.

It was snowing heavily when Mr. Lyken, the little undertaker from Ghost Lake, arrived with several assistants, a casket, and what he called "swell trimmings." Long ago Mike Clinch had selected his own mortuary site and had driven a section of iron pipe into the ground on a terry knoll overlooking Star Pond. In explanation he grimly remarked to Eve that after death he preferred to be planted where he could see that Old Harrod's ghost didn't trespass.

Here two of Mr. Lyken's able assistants dug a grave while the dying was still good; for if Mike Clinch was to lie underground that season there might be need of haste—no weather prophet ever having successfully forecast Adirondack weather.

Eve, exhausted by shock and a sleepless night, was spared the more harrowing details of the coroner's visit and the subsequent jaunty activities of Mr. Lyken and his efficient assistants. She had managed to dress herself in a black wool gown, intending to watch by Mike, but Stormont's blunt authority prevailed and she lay down for an hour's rest.

The hour lengthened into many hours; the girl slept heavily on her sofa under blankets laid over her by Stormont.

All that dark, snowy day she slept, mercifully unconscious of the proceedings below.

In its own mysterious way the news penetrated the wilderness; and out of the desolation of forest and swamp and mountain drifted the people who somehow existed there—a few shy, half wild young girls, a dozen silent, lank men, two or three of Clinch's own people, who stood silently about in the falling snow and lent a hand whenever requested.

One long-shanked youth cut hemlock to line the grave; others erected a little fence of silver birch around it, making of the enclosure a plot.

A gaunt old woman from God knows where aided Mr. Lyken at intervals; a pretty, sulky-eyed girl with her slovenly, red-headed sister cooked for anybody who desired nourishment.

When Mike was ready to hold the inevitable reception everybody filed into the dance hall. Mr. Lyken was master of ceremonies; Trooper Stormont stood very tall and straight by the head of the casket.

Clinch wore a vague, indefinable smile and his best clothes—that same smile which had so troubled John Quintana.

Light was fading fast in the room when the last visitor took silent leave of Clinch and rejoined the groups in the kitchen, where were the funeral baked meats.

Eve still slept. Descending again from his reconnaissance, Trooper Stormont encountered Trooper Lannis below.

"Has anybody picked up Quintana's tracks?" inquired the former.

"Not so far. An Inspector and two State Game Protectors are out beyond Owl Marsh. The Trooper from Five Lakes are on the job, and we have enforcement men along Drowned Valley from The Sour to Harrod Place."

"Does Darragh know?"

"Yes, he's in there with Mike. He brought a lot of flowers from Harrod Place."

The two Troopers went into the dance hall where Darragh was arranging the flowers from his greenhouses.

Stormont said quietly: "All right, Jim, but Eve must not know that they came from Harrod's."

Darragh nodded: "How is she, Jack?"

"All in."

"Do you know the story?"

"Yes. Mike went into Drowned Valley last evening after Quintana. He didn't come back. Before dawn this morning Eve located Quintana, set a bear-trap for him, and caught him with the goods."

"What goods?" demanded Darragh sharply.

"Well, she got his pack and found Mike's watch and jewelry in it."

"What jewelry?"

"The jewels Quintana was after. But that was after she'd arrived at the Dump, here, leaving Quintana to get free of the trap and beat it."

"That's how I met her—half crazed, going to find Quintana again. We'd found Mike in Drowned Valley and were bringing him out when I ran into Eve. I brought her back here and called Ghost Lake. They haven't picked up Quintana's tracks so far."

After a silence: "Too bad this snow came so late," remarked Trooper Lannis. But we ought to get Quintana anyway."

Darragh went over and looked silently at Mike Clinch.

"I like you," he said under his breath. "It wasn't your fault. And it wasn't mine, Mike. I'll try to square things. Don't worry."

He came back slowly to where Stormont was standing near the door.

"Jack," he said, "you can't marry Eve on a Trooper's pay. What not quit and take over the Harrod estate? You and I can go into business together later if you like."

After a pause: "That's rather wonderful of you, Jim," said Stormont, standing near the door, "but you don't know what sort of business man I'd make."

"I know what sort of officer you've made. . . . I'm taking no chance. . . . And I'll make my peace with Eve—or somebody will."

do it for me. . . . Is it settled then?"

"Thanks," said Trooper Stormont, reddening. They clasped hands. Then Stormont went about and lighted the candles in the room. Clinch's face, again revealed, was still faintly amused at something or other. The dead have much to be amused at.

As Darragh was about to go, Stormont said: "We're burying Clinch at eleven tomorrow morning. The Ghost Lake Pilot officiates."

"I'll come if it won't upset Eve," said Darragh.

"She won't notice anybody, I fancy," remarked Stormont.

He stood by the veranda and watched Darragh take the Long Trail through the snow. Finally the glimmer of his swinging lantern was lost in the woods and Stormont mounted the stairs once more, stood silently by Eve's open door, realized she was still heavily asleep, and seated himself on a chair outside her door to watch and wait.

All night long it snowed hard over the Star Pond country, and the late gray light of morning revealed a blinding storm pelting a white-robed world.

Toward ten o'clock, Stormont, on guard, noticed that Eve was growing restless.

Downstairs the flotsam of the forest had gathered again: Mr. Lyken in black gloves; the Reverend Laomi Smatter had arrived in a sleigh from Ghost Lake. Both were breakfasting heavily.

The pretty, sulky-faced girl fetched a tray and placed Eve's breakfast on it; and Trooper Stormont carried it to her room.

She was awake when he entered. He set the tray on the table. She put both arms around his neck.

"Jack," she murmured, her eyes tremulous with tears.

"Everything has been done," he said. "Will you be ready by eleven? I'll come for you."

She clung to him in silence for a while.

At eleven he knocked on her door. She opened it. She wore her black wool gown and a black fur turban. Some of her pallor remained—traces of tears and bluish smears under both eyes. But her voice was steady.

"Could I see Dad a moment alone?"

"Of course."

She took his arm; they descended the stairs. There seemed to be many people about but she did not lift her eyes until her lover led her into the dance hall where Clinch lay smiling his mysterious smile.

Then Stormont left her alone there and closed the door.

In a terrific snow-storm they buried Mike Clinch on the spot he had selected, in order that he might keep a watchful eye upon the trespassing ghost of old man Harrod.

It blew and stormed and stormed, and the thin, nasal voice of "Rev. Smatter" was utterly lost in the wind. The slanting lances of snow drove down on the casket, building a white mound over the flowers, blotting the hemlock boughs from sight.

There was no time to be lost now; the ground was freezing under a veering and biting wind out of the west. Mr. Lyken's talented assistants had some difficulty in shaping the mound which spore began to make into a white and flawless monument.

The last slap of the spade rang with a metallic jar across the lake, where snow already blotted the newly forming film of ice; the human denizens of the wilderness filtered back into it one by one: "Rev. Smatter" gave a little sigh, plainly concerned about the road; Mr. Lyken betrayed unprofessional haste in loading his wagon with his talented assistants and starting for Ghost Lake.

50 PERSONS IN RICH GARB IN ELK'S SHOW.

Employing a cast of fifty persons wearing costumes valued at $5000, the Elks farce, "Ten Thousand Dollars," to be given in the Yost theater here November 27, 28 and 29, will be a salient success for the antlered producers, C. J. McNaughtan, director of Elks' shows, said today.

McNaughtan is working with the local Elks' committee enlisting members of the cast, and shaping other details for the presentation of the three-act musical show.

Is Fourth Show

"Ten Thousand Dollars" will be the fourth show staged here by the Elks. The previous offerings were "Home Brew," "Purple Flashes," and "We Should Worry." Each time McNaughtan, who engages two crews continuously arranging Elks shows in coast cities from Santa Ana to Seattle, directed the presentation.

Beautiful gowns and pretty women will be one of the show's features, according to McNaughtan. Also an Elks' male chorus, and a singing and dancing girls' chorus, will be offered.

Song Hits Offered

Some of the song numbers to be given in the production are "Where Baby Are You?" "Stop It," "Caroline," "Three o'Clock in the Morning," "Georgette," "The Girls of My Dreams," "Teach Me," "An Old-Fashioned Girl in a Gingham Gown," "Pick Me Up and Lay Me Down in Dear Old Dixieland," and "Where Bamboo Babies Grow."

Many novelty stunts are being shaped by the committee and McNaughtan, who give assurances that "Ten Thousand Dollars" will be a riot of fun, fashions and fads.

HAVRE, Mont., Nov. 10.—New mystery was injected today into the killing of the Rev. Leonard J. Christler and Mrs. Margaret Carleton on the night of October 27.

The revolver with which the shooting was done was identified by Charles J. Sunday, former police officer, as the one alleged to have been used by John Jenkins in an assault upon L. B. Dance in a poolroom here in November, 1919.

Jake Shockney of Havre, took the gun from Jenkins following the assault, turned it over to Sunday and it became a part of the exhibits in the case.

The gun was of .38 caliber, of a well-known make and bore the number 184,546. It was identified through the number, which was of record.

How it came in possession of Mrs. Carleton is unknown. Frank E. Carleton, her husband, was attorney for Jenkins when Jenkins was tried for assault.

N. Mozely, that it was a hostelry. Murphy and his wife admitted all the actions, but alleged that they were not drunk, and that they had had nothing to drink until they reached the hotel in Westminster, where a convenient Mexican bootlegger sold them a pint of whiskey. It was this, they say, that Deputy Sheriff Herman Zabel, who arrested Murphy, detected on their breath.

Goes to Jail Too

It was recalled that Mrs. Murphy, in her grief at separation from her husband, loudly declared her intention to accompany him to jail, and finally accomplished the act by being arrested for disturbing the peace.

After a preliminary hearing, Murphy was released on bail here. When time for arraignment arrived, it was found that Murphy had jumped bail, according to the authorities.

It was not until he was arrested in Bakersfield on a liquor charge, that his whereabouts became known again. At the conclusion of a 108-day sentence in that city, he was arrested by Orange county authorities, on a bench warrant issued by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams.

ARMISTICE DAY IS FEATURED BY LIONS

Service men present told "How we won the war." Lt. Col. M. B. Wellington spoke on "Armistice Day Today and Four Years Ago," and Maurice Enderle talked on the American Legion.

Music by a stringed instrument quartette composed of Cal Prior, Ed Holmes, Lyle Anderson and Carson Smith was part of the musical program.

FULLERTON TO LURE THROG TOMORROW

lege symbolic of the departure of the students from college for their work in the world, one from the high school depicting the various athletic activities and gymnasium work, and one from the Athena club of the high school which will represent woman in war and in peace.

The Junior college float will be a small replica of the entrance to the administration building of the high school. From the building will be shown a procession of students dressed in caps and gowns, walking down the white walk between the green lawns of the campus and out toward the world, which will be represented by a huge globe.

Miss Floy Donaldson, head of the art department, Elmer T. Worthy of the Junior college faculty, and Francis Batten, art chairman of the Junior college Y. W. C. A., are in charge of the preparation of the float. Students who will ride on the float are Stanley Wheelock, Frances Batten and Claire Sharpless. The colors will be the purple and white of the Junior college.

The high school float is being decorated under the direction of Miss Marguerite Tedford, of the high school art department, with the assistance of the Girls' league, represented by Louise Griffith and Louise Parks.

Representative of the athletic activities of the school, the float will carry a huge center pedestal, upon which will be all of the school trophies. Around this and dressed in the "togs" of their respective activities will be representative school athletes. They will be Lorraine Bowe and Taddy Trago, baseball; Winfried Golden and Thelma Patton, basketball; John McFadden, football; Jean Wilson, hockey; Charles Whidney and Emily Holmes, tennis; Everett Lutz, track, and Vena Belle Bryant, gymnasium.

Discusses Plans

"Since the aim of our school is to reach the highest point in both mental and physical development, we have chosen to represent the physical side," said Miss Tedford, discussing plans for the float.

The school colors of red and white will be used throughout the decoration and "S. A. H. S." in large letters will be shown on the side of the float in red geraniums on a background of green.

One of the prettiest floats in the parade will be the Athena club float, showing woman in war and in peace. There will be two sections to the float, one to represent each of the ideas to be carried out. This float is being arranged under the direction of Miss Birdena Henry, faculty advisor of the Athena club. Chrysanthemums and ferns will be used in profusion.

Riding on the float will be Maxine Wilson, president of the club, representing America. Representing peace will be Evelyn Hoffman, Viola Rintoul, Virginia Thatcher, Edna Twist and Alice Richards. Representing war will be Mary Nunn, Edna Juden, Margaret Haley, Mildred Paul and Lola Scaggs. The driver will be James Dixon, dressed as an American soldier.

The Girls' league of the high school is decorating in red and white bunting and crepe paper an automobile which will be driven in the parade to advertise the football game here tomorrow afternoon between Pasadena and Santa Ana.

The Santa Ana Legion post has adopted the following uniform for its members who march in the Fullerton parade: Campaign hat or overseas cap. O. D. shirt and black necktie, O. D. breeches and leggings.

Men of the Santa Ana post were being notified today that they are to assemble at Fullerton on East Commonwealth avenue, 150 feet east of the Pacific Electric tracks, not later than 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. As many men as possible should be in uniform, it was stated.

Legionnaires of the local post who served in the navy were being advised to assemble at the Legion home on Birch street here at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning in readiness to proceed to Fullerton. It was decided that they should wear blue uniforms and white hats and that no leggings should be worn.

WOOLWINE TO REMAIN IN DIST. ATTY. POST

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—Thomas Lee Woolwine, defeated candidate for governor, will remain at his post of district attorney here for the present, he said in a statement today.

"I lost, and that's all there is to it," he said regarding the gubernatorial campaign. "It is my fervent hope that my opponent may be able to approximate in performance his promises, and that he will make a good and efficient governor."

U. S. SELLS FOREST AND NETS $360,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—One hundred and sixty-seven million feet of timber has recently been sold on the Plumas National Forest, California, according to an announcement just made by the forest service, United States department of agriculture. The timber covers about 14,000 acres in what is known as the sugar pine-yellow pine belt in the heart of the Sierra Mountains of California.

It is estimated that this amount of timber, together with the lumber mixed privately owned timber, will require eight years to cut and convert into lumber. Twenty-one miles of railroad will be built to connect with an existing logging railroad 40 miles in length. As usual in this type of forest, the logging will be done by donkey engines, but forest service men will carefully supervise the cutting so that all young and thrifty trees will be left for future growth. Only marked trees will be cut and brush and debris resulting from logging will be piled and burned.

This large body of timber was sold to the Swayne Lumber Company, an established concern in the locality, which is now logging on private lands in the same watershed. The United States treasury will be enriched approximately $360,000, at the rate of about $45,000 a year. Prices received were $3.50 per thousand feet for sugar pine, $3 for yellow pine, and $1 for other species.

HOW PRINCE IS MADE TO WORK IS RELATED

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 10.—The Prase Service of the Presbyterian Missionary Society, held at the manse Wednesday afternoon, in charge of President Mrs. F. J. Grandy, was well attended.

The meeting began with devotional readings and prayer, interspersed with singing. A duet, entitled "Only a Ray of Sunshine Fair," was sung by Mrs. Orville Day and Mrs. John Swanson. Mrs. M. C. Hayes, Synodical President, of Pasadena, talked on mission work in Korea, India and China. She has a daughter, Miss Louise Hayes, in Pyongyang, Korea, and a son in Allahabad, India, who went there with Sam Higginbottom for agricultural and mission work under the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

Higginbottom, Mrs. Hayes said, was asked by an Indian prince to teach agriculture for the government at twelve times the salary he was getting, but he refused, saying he was employed by the Board of Foreign Missions to preach the gospel. He was told it would not interfere with his work as he would not be required to work on Sunday, and that a cablegram had been sent to America about it. The reply stated the board would release him if he was willing to go and if the station would release him.

Higginbottom still refused but said the prince might send his young men to be instructed. Soon a message was received asking that room be made for twelve automobiles and some horses as the prince was sending his son for instruction.

The young man came, entering the class room while the other students stood in respect for one of higher status.

He was advised by Higginbottom to take notes as he would have to pass examination on the lecture. He said his private secretary was there and would do it, but was told he must take them himself. The next day the prince's son was out digging weeds with the others.

Mrs. Hayes was listened to with much interest, and at the close of her talk, light refreshments of cake and tea were served.

MARJORIE FIELDING AND ROBERT HART in their latest dance in "TAKE IT FROM ME"

"TAKE IT FROM ME" Musical Show That Amused East To Be Feature at Yost Theater Nov. 21

Coming with the reputation of having captivated New York for over a year, Chicago for five months and Boston and Philadelphia for four months each, Joseph M. Gates will present the season's gayest musical show, "Take It From Me," at the Yost theater here November 21. E. D. Yost, manager, announced today.

Heralded as a red-hot hit, with girls and spoe and everything nice, "Take It From Me" will present a laugh-provoking cast and a parade of lovely "Kiss-Me" girls most pleasing to the eye. The book and lyrics are by Will B. Johnston while the many lilting melodies are by Will R. Anderson. Catchy music, good fast comedy, pretty girls and stunning clothes are all contributory reasons why "Take It From Me" is the great success that it is.

The story of "Take It From Me" is that of a youth who must conduct a department store for one year and show a profit before coming into an inheritance left him by his uncle. The adventures resulting from his lack of experience, and consequently sensation al methods in trade are amusing to say the least. He starts out to wreck the business but the right girl convinces him just before it is too late that he must save his fortune.

Gates has furnished a cast of farceurs, singers and dancers that fit their respective roles with a glove-like nicety, among them being Alice Hills, Marjorie Sweet,

Robert Capron, Joseph M. Wilton, Myra Treska, Beach Cooke, Frank Gardinar, Chic Burnham, Charles Welsh Homer, Henry W. Pemberton, Jane Hazleton, Marjorie Fielding, Robert Hart, Bud Lorraine, Dorothy Dana, Earl Welding, Charles Heffron, and the large chorus of stunning girls.

Among the many song hits will be found "Tip Toe," "The Tanglefoot," "Tomorrow," "Its Different Now," "Take It From Me," "I Like to Linger in the Lingerie," "The Tanglefoot Trot," "The Call of the Cozy Little Home," "The Kiss," "To Have and to Hold" and "Camouflage."

"THE RADIO KING" IS FEATURE AT THE PRINCESS TONIGHT

The history of electricity is perhaps the most startling and most mystifying of all branches of science. By laborious experiments and stubborn perseverance we have little by little penetrated the greatest mysteries and the highest stage of advancement which mankind has yet brought to it is the radio.

This marvelous means of communication had its inception with Michael Faraday. It was developed by Maxwell, improved upon by Heinrich Hertz, and perfected by Marconi. All of which is shown in the opening of the first chapter of the serial, "The Radio King," at the Princess theater tonight.

The story concerns the efforts of John Leyden, chief of the Bureau of Experimentation for the U. S. government, to recall messages from the ether. The danger of this to a group of radicals plotting to incite a revolution in America is their fear if their messages are recalled their plans will become known and their ruin follow.

TOMORROW'S CELEBRATION

Armistice day has become rightfully one of the biggest days in all the year in Orange county.

It was but four years ago that Orange county, with the rest of the world, greeted November 11 with boundless rejoicing. The slaughter and destruction caused by the great war was at an end. Many hundreds of young men from this county, scattered all over the world wherever men were gathered under the Stars and Stripes, were that day permitted to turn their eyes homeward. It was a day that today thrills us as our memories fly back to it.

And tomorrow we celebrate, and through this celebration we will renew our pledges of loyalty to our government.

It is fitting that the celebration should be held this year at Fullerton. Just as thousands flocked to Santa Ana a year ago to join in the demonstration, so tomorrow will thousands from Santa Ana, Orange and other communities in the southern part of the county go to Fullerton to have a part in showing that we are a unit as a county in our annual celebration of the cessation of hostilities.

Fullerton has planned for this gathering with commendable spirit and enterprise. Scores of residents of that city have given days of their time in preparation for the event. To them, in advance, we extend our congratulations, for we know that the day from beginning to end is to be just what they hope for it—a big successful demonstration of the county's appreciation of the sacrifices that the veterans underwent and were willing to undergo.

WILL CARRY ON THE FIGHT

One of the best things lawyers do—or, in the words of Wildcat, "the fondles" thing they am of," is to take an appeal. But they don't often appeal from a higher to a lower court, as it is said they are going to do in the matter of the so-called lawyers bill, which was defeated at Tuesday's election. Of course there may be a difference of opinion as to whether the people at the polls or the legislative session is the higher court, but perhaps in a strictly democratic sense the people at the polls must be given credit for being the higher of the two courts.

However, the story is that the lawyers are going to go before the legislature at its next session with a bill which will make invalid any will in which the lawyer or the trust company or any other person drawing or advising in the drawing of a will shall make himself or itself executor. They say they are determined to protect the people in this matter to the extent of stopping what they call the pernicious practice of certain trust companies of drawing wills for people and naming themselves (the trust companies) as executors.

Incidentally, the lawyers are chuckling over the alleged fact that, although their bill to "prohibit the illegal practice of law" was defeated, they have educated the people as to the "evils" of the practice of certain trust companies to such an extent that their activities will be greatly curtailed.

In regard to the bill the lawyers propose to introduce in the next legislature, they say that they are confident it will pass and be approved by the governor, because it is absolutely fair in every respect—that is, it prohibits the lawyer as well as the trust company from drawing a will in which he names himself as executor.

APPETITE FOR ACCUMULATION

A New York congressman, who ardently desires re-election next Tuesday, last week announced to the voters of his district his desire "to destroy the insatiable appetite for accumulation," and was applauded. We wonder if he said what he meant, or knew what he said.

To this same "appetite for accumulation" can be traced every step of material progress that mankind has made in half a million years; every spare spear-shaft seasoned by the wood fire in the cave; every bushel of wheat laid by against the hour of famine; every shelter that has housed a family since men first acknowledged there was such a thing. The Soviet has attempted to destroy this appetite, and the world has seen what that means.

The fact of the case is that individuals save, but never mobs; that here in America, although we have had life insurance for a century and a half and savings banks for a full century, 85 per cent of us still die leaving no more than enough to pay our funeral expenses. Destroy the "appetite for accumulation" and the percentage would be 100.

James Bryce, in his "American Commonwealth," remarks that "the average American knows he already has everything he could hope for, except from general pillage," and one knows what a general pillage meant in Russia.

MORE COWS FOR DAKOTA

The Dakotas are stabilizing agriculture by the development of dairying as a sideline to wheat. North Dakota, according to the best state estimates, has 16,000 more dairy cows today than it had a year ago. South Dakota figures are not available, but the 1920 census showed 539,000 of them against a total of 406,000 reported by the state in 1919.

Milk and butter fat production has almost trebled within the decade in both states, and still more encouraging, the number of pure-bred cattle is increasing more rapidly every year. Within the year North Dakota has imported no less than 85 pure-bred Holstein, Guernsey or Jersey bulls, while farmers in several counties have banded together and pledged themselves to purchase bulls only from dams with a record of 600 pounds of butter fat a year. Cow-testing associations are springing up everywhere.

For a generation the nation has been thinking of the Dakotas as a land of great wheat farms and little else. The wholesale introduction of dairying will literally change the face of the country before many years are past and, as it does so, will make for better living, larger and steadier income and better credit in every business way.

NEW ROLLING STOCK

The number of new freight cars ordered by American railroads up to Oct. 15 was 123,000 and the number of new locomotives, 1,800. That is about 16,000 more cars and 300 more locomotives than were bought in average years during the decade ending with 1921. It is more than were bought in any single year since 1916. And the total will be considerably larger before the year is ended.

Much of this equipment goes to replace worn-out stock, but there is a positive gain.

The mere fact that the railroads are able to buy this new rolling stock in such quantities is in itself a reassuring thing. It shows that the roads are able to start building up again, instead of living on their own fat. It shows also that they anticipate a growing volume of traffic and increasing prosperity. And the additional cars and locomotives will help to hasten the process of business revival, for the nation as well as for the transportation lines.

PUT THEM UNDERGROUND

A city councilman in one of the big cities, seeking some brave pre-election promise to tempt the votes of his constituents, chose the removal of all overhead telegraph, telephone and trolley wires and their supporting poles. A man who could put this over would deserve election.

In the city in question it is estimated that it will cost the city and the various corporations involved not less than $10,000,000 to put all wires underground. There has been an ordinance calling for such action for many years but it has gone unheeded because it developed early in the game that it was cheaper to pay fines for non-compliance than to obey the law.

Whatever may be the outcome in this case as to law enforcement and the interment of wires, the situation points a moral for smaller communities. Poles and overhead wires are unsightly and a progressive menace as the city increases in size and population grows. The time to check it is in the earlier stages of the town's development.

Speaking of investments, the Better Stock movement is especially recommended to farmers.

A PRIZE PROBLEM

It is said that President Harding would be glad to give a prize for a practical suggestion for the collection of foreign debts to the United States. While no definite award has been offered by the White House, there is no doubt that a workable debt program would deserve rich compensation.

The President is reported as overwhelmed with gratuitous generalities on the adjustment of these debts, but when he tries to pin any of his advisers down to a concrete program he finds notable disinclination or inability.

It is always easier to criticize than to make constructive suggestions. It is easier to indulge in generalities on any many-sided question than to find one feasible way. Even when some fairly workable plan is proposed by one faction, there is always the little problem of the other faction which refuses to co-operate because it has a perfectly good scheme of its own, and wants the power and the glory which will accrue to putting it over.

It might pay any public official actually to offer a prize in some such connection. The effort to earn it would teach the critical citizen much about the real difficulties of diplomacy.

Duty After Election

Visalia Delta
Duty of voters ends with election. After working tooth and nail to get the incumbents into office, the natural inclination is to return to private concerns and let the public affairs go as they may.

It is all of a piece with the fairy tale theory which ends with a wedding and the words, "and they all lived happily ever after." This is all right in fairy tale philosophy, but every thinking individual knows that whether the marriage will be happy or not depend upon the daily efforts made to keep it so. It is the same way with government. It is a fine thing to rally round the flag and make earnest efforts to get honest, competent people elected, but it is even more important to keep up the enthusiasm and interest after election, to see whether campaign promises are fulfilled and the public good is preserved, and if not, what the trouble is and what the remedy.

A Clear Call To Barrows

Stockton Record
Dr. Barrows will find it difficult even in absence to resist the practically unanimous plea of Californians outside as well as inside the university that he remain as its president. The demand for his retention grows. It will be nearly impossible for him to refuse this call to service without giving a stronger reason for retiring to the ranks than that given when he offered his resignation.

There is a growing belief that there was some other reason for his relinquishment of the presidential chair. Whatever it was should be adjusted to meet the demand for Dr. Barrows to come back as head of the institution. He suits the students and the people. He is a man's man. They know the regents will go far to find the same combination of scholarly fitness and ideals with good horse sense, high courage, directness and administrative ability, not to mention an added human quality which seems to have won the affection of the students. Why should they search elsewhere?

Men of acknowledged usefulness to the public have often sacrificed personal preference for the greater good. A large number of Californians are taking pains to show that the state needs Dr. Barrows. It is a clear call to him which he will find hard to ignore.

Ford and His Dream

HENRY FORD, visiting Boston, makes this startling prediction: "Within a few years—I wouldn't be surprised if it were within five or six years—we won't be mining coal any more. Coal will be burned underground, right where it is found, and the by-products utilized."

"Probably we'll utilize all the gas, too, for heat, light and power. Some of the heat can be utilized, too, where it is generated under the ground. What heat is wasted by this method won't be nearly as important as the waste of human energy which results from our present method of mining coal, and the waste involved in transporting and distributing it."

JUST how Ford would work this dream out in a practical way, he doesn't say. But it is possible.

Then, too, Ford has become an enthusiast about "white coal"—water power.

He sees the day when even drops of rain will be transformed into electricity.

He says the power going to waste in rain can be estimated by a locality's inches of annual rainfall and the distance the rain drops in making its eventual way back to sea-level. Part of this power unquestionably could be chained up.

Ford proposes: "Collect the water on flat lands during the winter. Drain it off as water power during the spring. And in the summer you'll have wonderfully fertile land for your crops. In the autumn, after the harvest, let the water collect again."

THIS latest dream of Ford's results from a trip he made the other day into a coal mine. He went about three miles underground and found it "a terrible place to be in, no fit place for a human being to work."

More than half a million Americans toil underground to get coal. In other words, to get power.

Meantime, tremendous power is going to waste in falling water, in the ocean tides, in the wind, in the sun's heat. All these will be harnessed some day. Nature has placed unlimited power at our disposal. Human drudgery will end when we learn how to harness these natural forces.

Harnessing them is a long, slow job. But it'll come. Nature gives us what we need. Her price is constant toil and patience. End of the road is far off, but it'll be worth the journey, for humanity.

Worth While Verse

GO, LOVELY ROSE

Go, lovely Rose
Tell her that wastes her time and me,
That now she knows,
When I resemble her to thee,
How sweet and fair she seems to be.

Tell her that's young,
And shuns to have her graces spied,
That hastid thou sprung
In deserts where no men abide,
Thou must have uncommended died.

Small is the worth
Of beauty from the light retired;
Bid her come forth,
Suffer herself to be desired,
And not blush so to be admired.

Then die—that she
The common fate of all things rare
May read in thee;
How small a part of time they share
That are so wondrous sweet and fair!

—By Edmund Waller.

Time to Smile

UNEASY ABOUT THE PARTY

A college youth, who had found himself in financial straits during the term, had "soaked" his dress suit for trifling amounts from time to time pending the receipt of remittances from home. The pawnshop tags were still on them, unbeknown to himself, so when his mother began rummaging in his trunk and found the tag on his coat, she asked:

"What's this?"
"Why mother," he invented rapidly, "I was at a ghost party where they put on robes and things, and I checked my coat. That's the check mark I forgot to take off."

Some more rummaging and then the mother, holding up a pair of trousers similarly labeled, asked:
"George! What kind of a party was that you attended?"

Some Odds and Ends

SMASH

The seemingly impossible does happen occasionally. For instance, you'd imagine it impossible for two airplanes to collide head-on in daylight, considering the room they have for dodging.

But it happens in Honolulu, two army aviators killed, two others hurt.

Unusual now. Common later, when the air will swarm with planes by thousands, like old-time flights of passenger pigeon.

DANGER

Head-on collision of two airplanes at Honolulu sets you wondering how dangerous it will be for people on the ground when airplanes become as common as flippers are now.

Live fifty more years and you'll see as many airplane wrecks as you now see smashed-up autos. Seems a long way off, to begin thinking about how to protect pedestrians. But let's start. We Americans are famous for never getting a law until years after we need it. What do you suggest? Limit flying to air-lanes in the country, fliers barred above cities?

ART

Geometric art, picturing things in straight lines and angles, appears in Paris. It's described as new, but the cubists had much the same thing years ago when Dr. Max Nordau wrote "Degeneration."

Nature works in curves—horizon, sea-wave, star orbits. When an artist sees nature in straight lines and angles instead of graceful curves, he generally has an eye disease, usually nystagmus.

MONUMENT

In memory of their parents, a couple of New York men endow two beds in a Denver tuberculosis sanitarium. So much money was banked. The interest will take care of two worthy poor cases, free of charge, all the time.

You've heard of such things. But this instance is rare enough, at that, to get into the telegraph news. As a monument an endowed bed beats a block of granite.

GOAT

The farmer seems to be the goat of deflation not only in our country but all over the world.

London Daily Mail says: "Although farm sales this Michaelmas are seeing a slight downward tendency in the prices of implements, smalls, wagons, harness and the like, the fall is far outpaced by the slump in the market values of produce, and that is at the bottom of the agricultural crisis."

Maybe an international league of farmers is needed more than a league of politicians.

DIAMONDS

A sure sign that world-wide prosperity is returning comes from Cape-Town: Directors of the Consolidated Diamond Mines of Southwest Africa are paying dividends again. And they announce that production of the mines will be speeded up to meet "improved demand for diamonds."

Diamond buying and prosperity come and go together.

Gold Libation Bowl

Lacey D. Caskey, curator of classical art at the Art museum, believes that he has made a discovery regarding the origin of the solid gold Greek libation bowl which has just been put on exhibition at the Art museum.

"I found the bowl weighed the equivalent of 100 Babylonian shekels, 100 Persian darics and 100 Corinthian staters," explained Mr. Caskey. "The Greeks took their unit of weight from the Orient and when I discovered that the bowl weighed the same in Oriental money as in Greek money, I was satisfied that the bowl was made from Greek gold coins of the seventh century, B. C."

"Another very interesting feature of the bowl," said Mr. Caskey, "is its inscription, 'The sons of Cypselus dedicated this from Heracles.' The bowl was found at Olympia and it is thought that it was a part of the spoils after the conquest of Heracles. Cypselus figures as one of the worst tyrants of Greek history, so the inscription bearing his name is considered of historical value. One son of Cypselus Periander was titled one of the seven wise men of Greece."—Boston Post.

Savage Race Passing

The race of the aboriginal black-fellow of Australia is rapidly disappearing. Numbering about 200,000 a hundred years ago, less than 100th of this number are today to be found. And, like all passing races, the black-fellow for many years has been more and more dropping the festival and war costumes of ancient times.

The blackfellow is an ethnological problem, but the weight of research seems to point to the race having a Caucasian origin. Yet though they are, if this be true, the blood-brothers of the highest civilized races, they are still rated as one of the lowest of human races, unable to comprehend higher than the figure three, and when found by the white men possessed of little more skill in survival than a wild animal.

Yet at the same time they rank in physique as one of the finest of races. The men have been noted in the past for their wonderful tracking abilities. Some, besides having exceptionally keen eyesight, have been found to be possessed with an almost animal keenness of scent.

They also invented the boomerang, a wonderful weapon known to only one other race on earth. In another 20 years this race will in all probability have disappeared off the face of the earth.—Detroit News.

Happiness Recipe

Margaret, Queen of Navarre—Three ounces are necessary, first of patience, then of repose and peace; of conscience a word entire is needful; of pastimes of all sorts too, should be gathered as much as the hand can hold; of pleasant memory and of hope three good drachms there must be at least. But they should be moistened with a liquor made from true pleasures which rejoice the heart. Then of love's magic drops, a few—but use them sparingly for they may bring a flame which naught but tears can drown. Grind the whole and mix therewith of merriment an ounce to even. Yet all this may not bring happiness except in your orisons you lift your voice to Him who holds the gift of health.

Odd and Interesting

China, supposedly very densely populated (has only 97 inhabitants to the square mile the country over, which is surpassed by 17 other countries, led by Belgium, with 668.

Though the membership of the G. A. R. has been steadily reduced by death, the latest figures show that there are still 93,171 of these veterans in the United States.

The first clock is said to have been produced about 900 A. D. by Gerbert the Monk.

Adventures of The Twins

Scarecrow Alarmed

By Olive Roberts Barton

The Twins took Simple Simon's advice and swung themselves down to the earth on a giant cobweb.

"We'll ask Scarecrow first, if he has seen Mother Goose's broom," said Nick, taking Nancy's hand and starting off.

Pretty soon they came to Farmer Smith's cornfield. Farmer Smith had patched up Scarecrow until he was as good as new, with new arms and legs and a suit of his own clothes and a rakish hat. Also he had given him a new stick to hold.

Nancy and Nick picked their way between the corn rows until they came to the middle of the field.

"Hello!" answered Scarecrow. "I'm glad to see you. I was getting so lonesome. Are you admiring my new clothes? Well, dear knows, I didn't get them before I needed them! My last year's ones were in ribbons. They got so bad I lost nearly all my straw stuffing, and my very bones showed."

"Well, you look very nice now," said Nancy patting him.

"Did you see anything of a broom?" asked Nick suddenly. "We are hunting for the one Mother Goose lost."

Scarecrow turned very red. "Why, I don't know," he said in a worried voice. "I—I made of broomsticks, you see—and wouldn't it be queer if—if my broomstick, or my arms, or my legs happened to be the very ones you're looking for! How can you find out?"

"We'll ask Mother Goose," said Nancy.

"Well, tell her that my arms are blue, my backbone red and my gun yellow with green stripes," said Scarecrow. "If her broom was any of those colors perhaps I've got it."
